Hi Margaret,
Say, who even signed here?
I forgot to sign her name!
Always remember the good ol' times in Home Arts and on #270! Good luck next year — Don't study, just have a BLAST!! (That's the best way!)
Love Yr,
Sue

Margaret,
For the past two years
I have been in home arts together. Oh Lord, what a class!
Remember all the crazy things that happened. Oh yes, what a class — what a teacher!
Be good, and have a fabulous
Senior year —
Love,
Sallie Kate

Dear Peanut,
 this year has really gone fast! I bet that you didn't think that it could. I really have enjoyed knowing you again this year. When everybody else is down in the dumps you can't usually count on you for a cherry word. Thanks for the pick up. I hope that will be my sister for a while. Loves for you and Ray!
 P.S. Love, give
 When shall we get Mr. Kadatsky?

Our Changing Line

What's new? Do you have a pair of bright blue leotards or green desert boots? Have you seen Bethesda's changing skyline and noticed what's happening right here at B-CC? Did you know that we have 1825 students this year with 95 faculty members—that there's an apartment house on the lot next to us and threats that a four lane highway will go through our baseball field? Did you know that the new library will soon be finished and that the music classes will soon be in their new building?

A quick glance will tell you that 1959 is the year of strange new things—super satellites, bizarre fads and three-decker sandwiches. This is a year of growth and change when people fly by jet to Europe for the week-end, when a trip to the moon is no longer a fantasy.

At B-CC we, too, are growing and changing in our world-within-a-world. This is what's new. This is our changing line in '59.

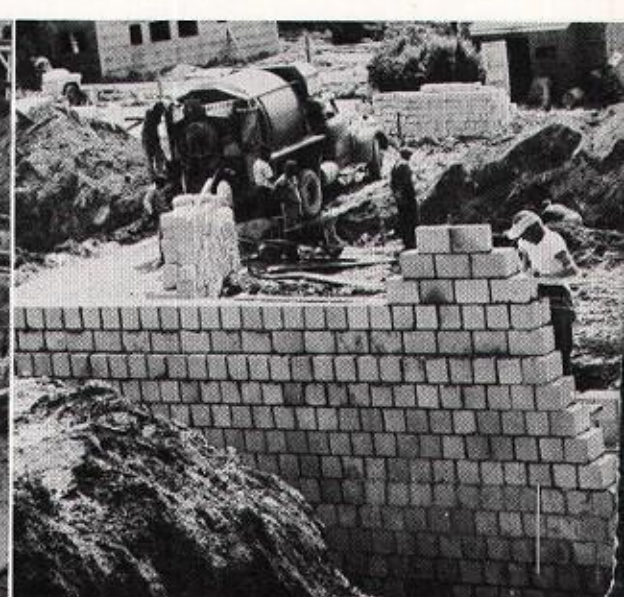

"Meet me in the Quad!" was the call for six years.

Contractors moved into our Quad with the first cherry blossoms. The machinery rumbled about and the outlines of two buildings appeared.

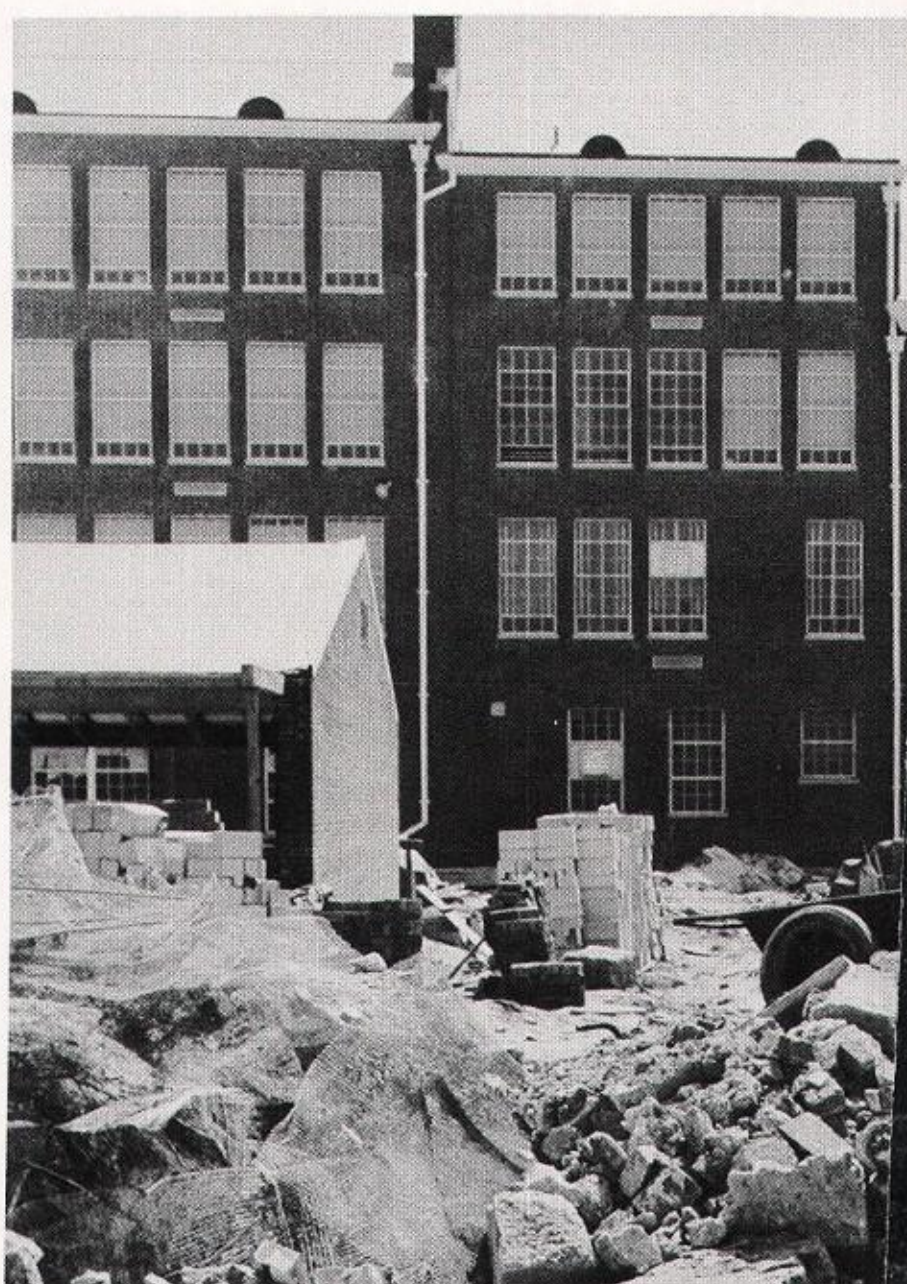

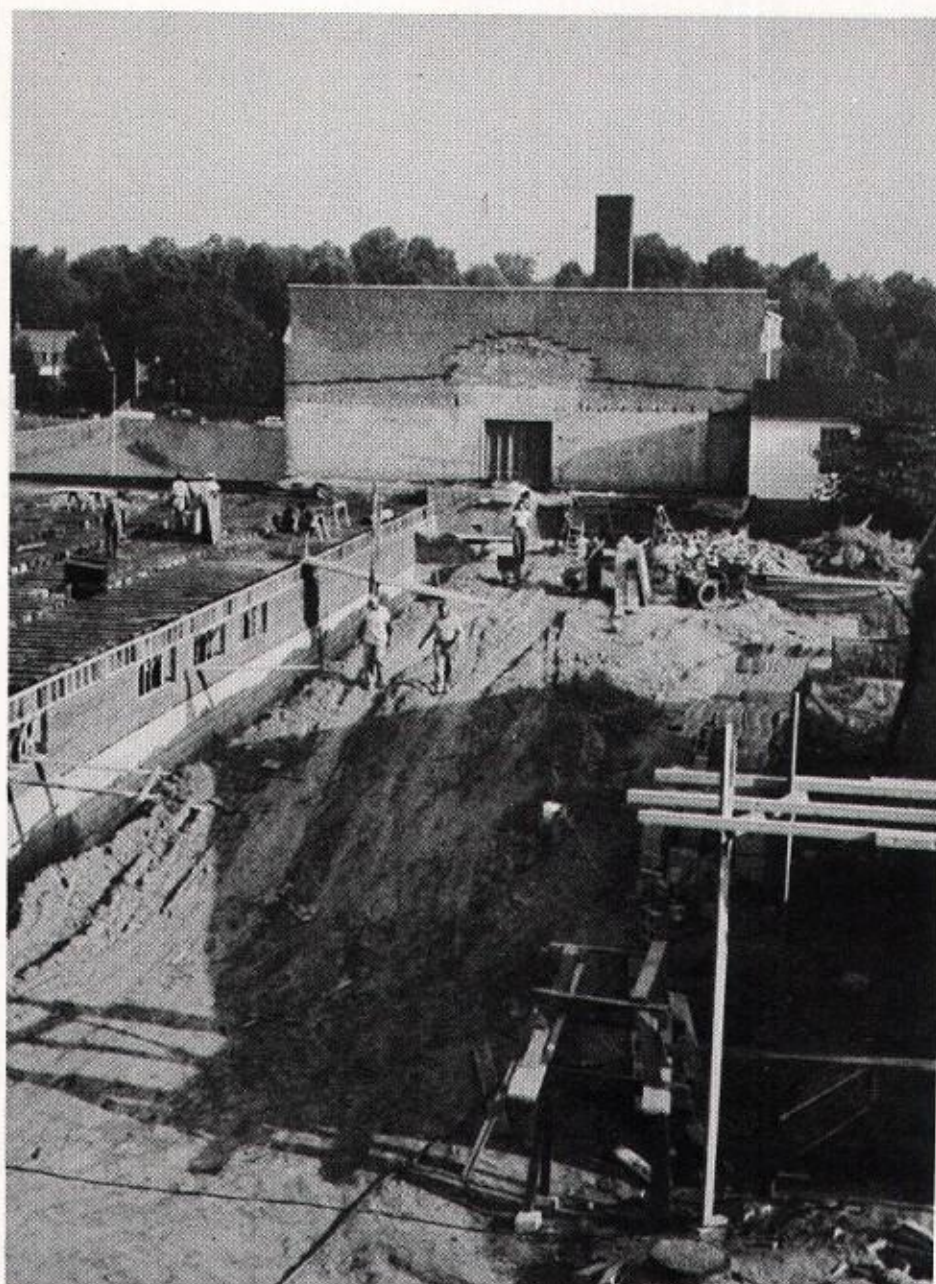

The dirt and cinder blocks were a sorry substitute for our former recreation spot.

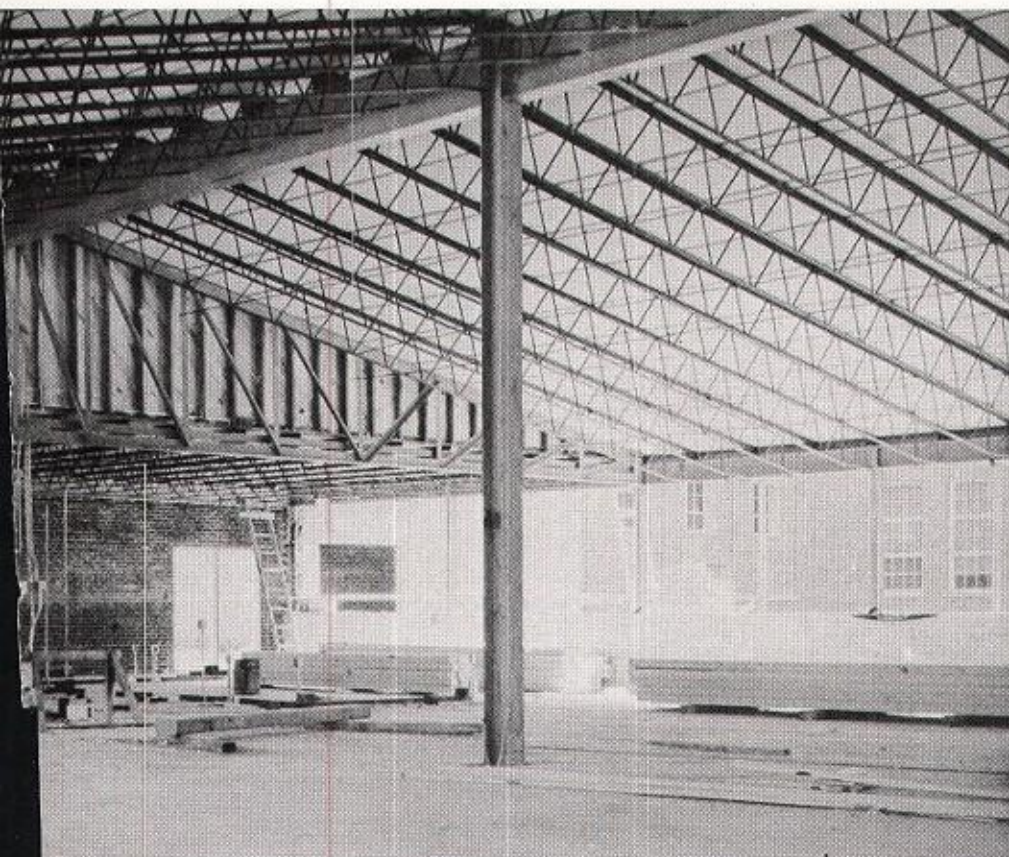

A Series of Pictorial Essays

Long Awaited Buildings For Music, Library

We were astonished to see the mutilation of the front of the Girls' Gym. Our colonial architecture was sorely missed.

And the view from what used to be the Teachers' Parking lot was sheer mess. In fact, it was as jammed as our lockers.

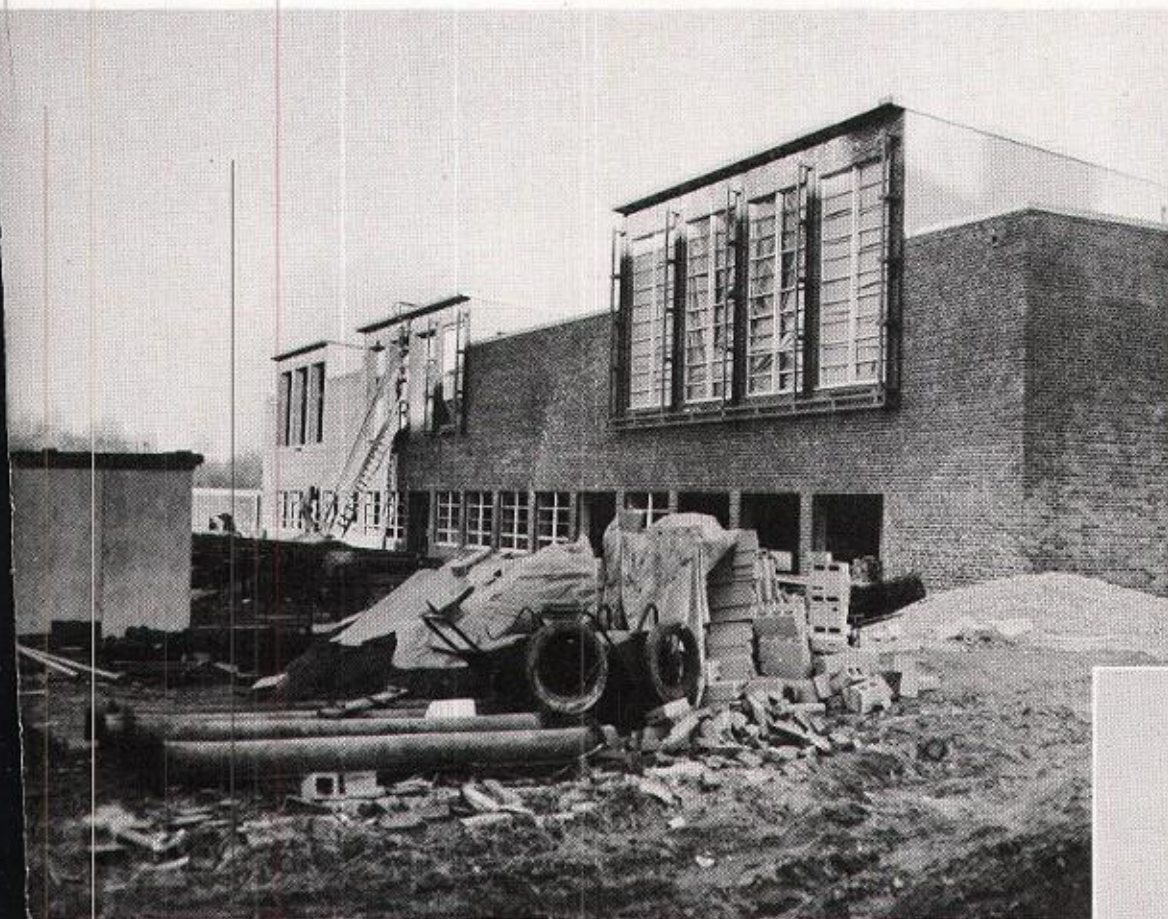

All summer long we checked on the builders. We climbed to the third floor of the Ad Building and looked way down. Completion seemed a long time ahead. In September we took a closer look—up this time. We heard it would be finished in October.

Luckily, We Didn't Hold Our Breaths

the music rooms and shower rooms looked like this on March 1. But we had hopes.

The library had a roof and glass for the windows by March 1, but in December, this was the view. Latest prediction is "open for National Library Week, April 12-18." See page 5 for what we had by the final, final PINE TREE deadline. This went to press March 4.

First day of school causes many problems and Mr. Pyles assists the office staff in getting everyone to the proper place. The first day is difficult, but a well-organized staff makes things run smoothly.

Mr. Bender helps a new student interpret her schedule before she enters a maze of hallways and buildings.

Opportunities Anew

Another school year! After a too-short summer vacation, students once more returned to their studies. We hailed old friends and helped the bewildered to solve the enigma of numbers and names on the blackboard in front of the Administration Building. Sophomores felt apprehensive, yet filled with anticipation; juniors felt relief at familiarity; seniors felt superior to all.

Roger Parkinson, Key Club President, helps incoming sophomores locate their homerooms. Each year, our service clubs are on hand to guide us.

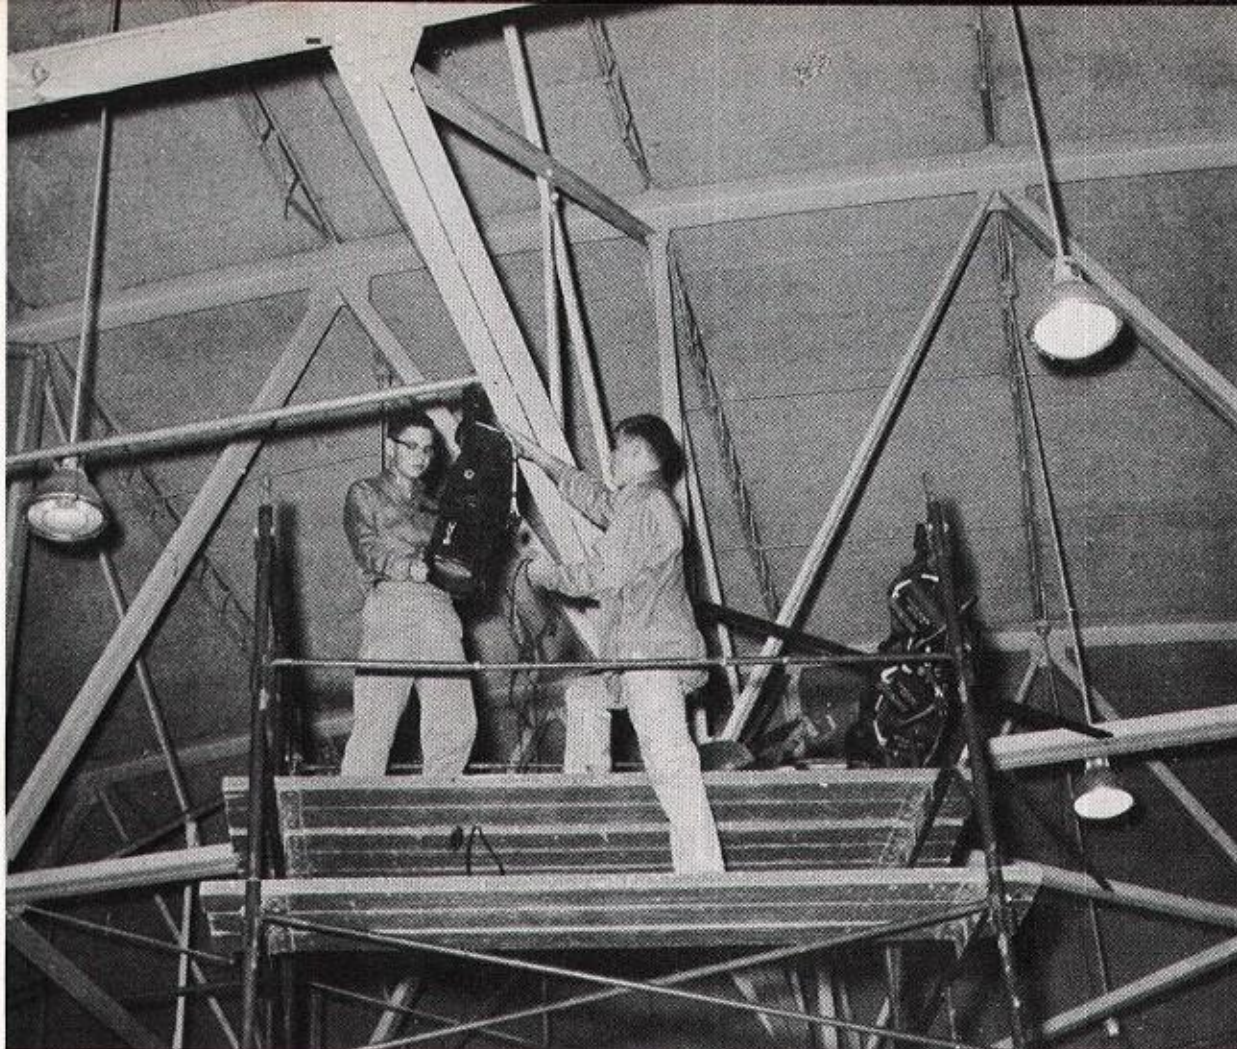

Sophomores in 10-9 concentrated on their Blue and Gold Handbooks and their schedules before leaving the relative safety of their homeroom.

Available To Those Who Seek Them

Notebooks, paper—the rush was on at the school store which also featured books entitled “How to Study.”

Spotlights make those decorations especially effective. Jim McElroy and Jeffrey Newman adjust a spotlight for added drama.

So much to do, so little time! Saturday morning finds us in a tangle of crepe paper and a state of confusion.

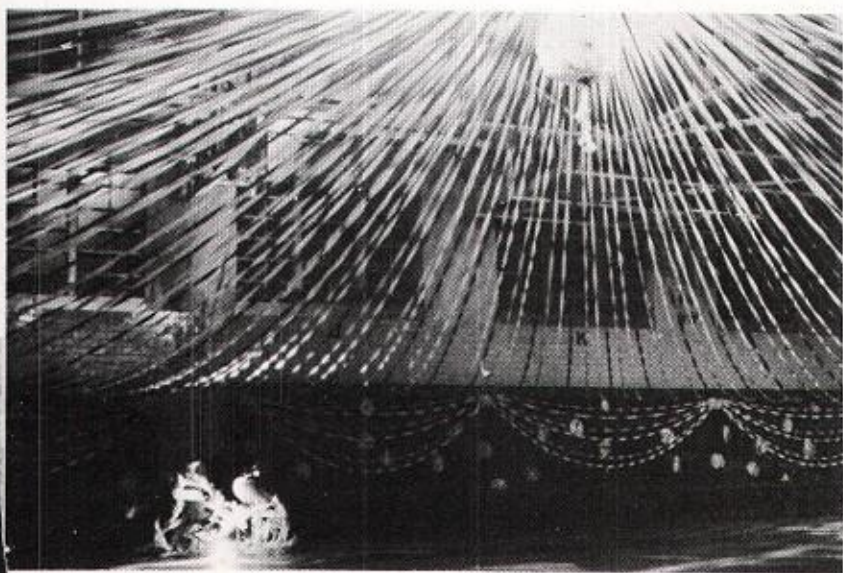

Last-minute things count, too. Pat Donovan waits patiently while John Dunton buys that all-important ticket.

The receiving line at our dances teaches us social graces and lends form to the occasion. Carol Latona, Mr. and Mrs. Latona, Mrs. Sonner, and Mrs. Metcalf greet guests at the Blue and Gold Prom.

Decorate The Gym, Dance Amid Glitter

Somehow, we finished the job in time. Almost unrecognizable in its new finery, our gym awaits the dancers.

Joyce Lipscomb, John Mullen, and their double-date know that half the fun of a dance is being able to see everyone else.

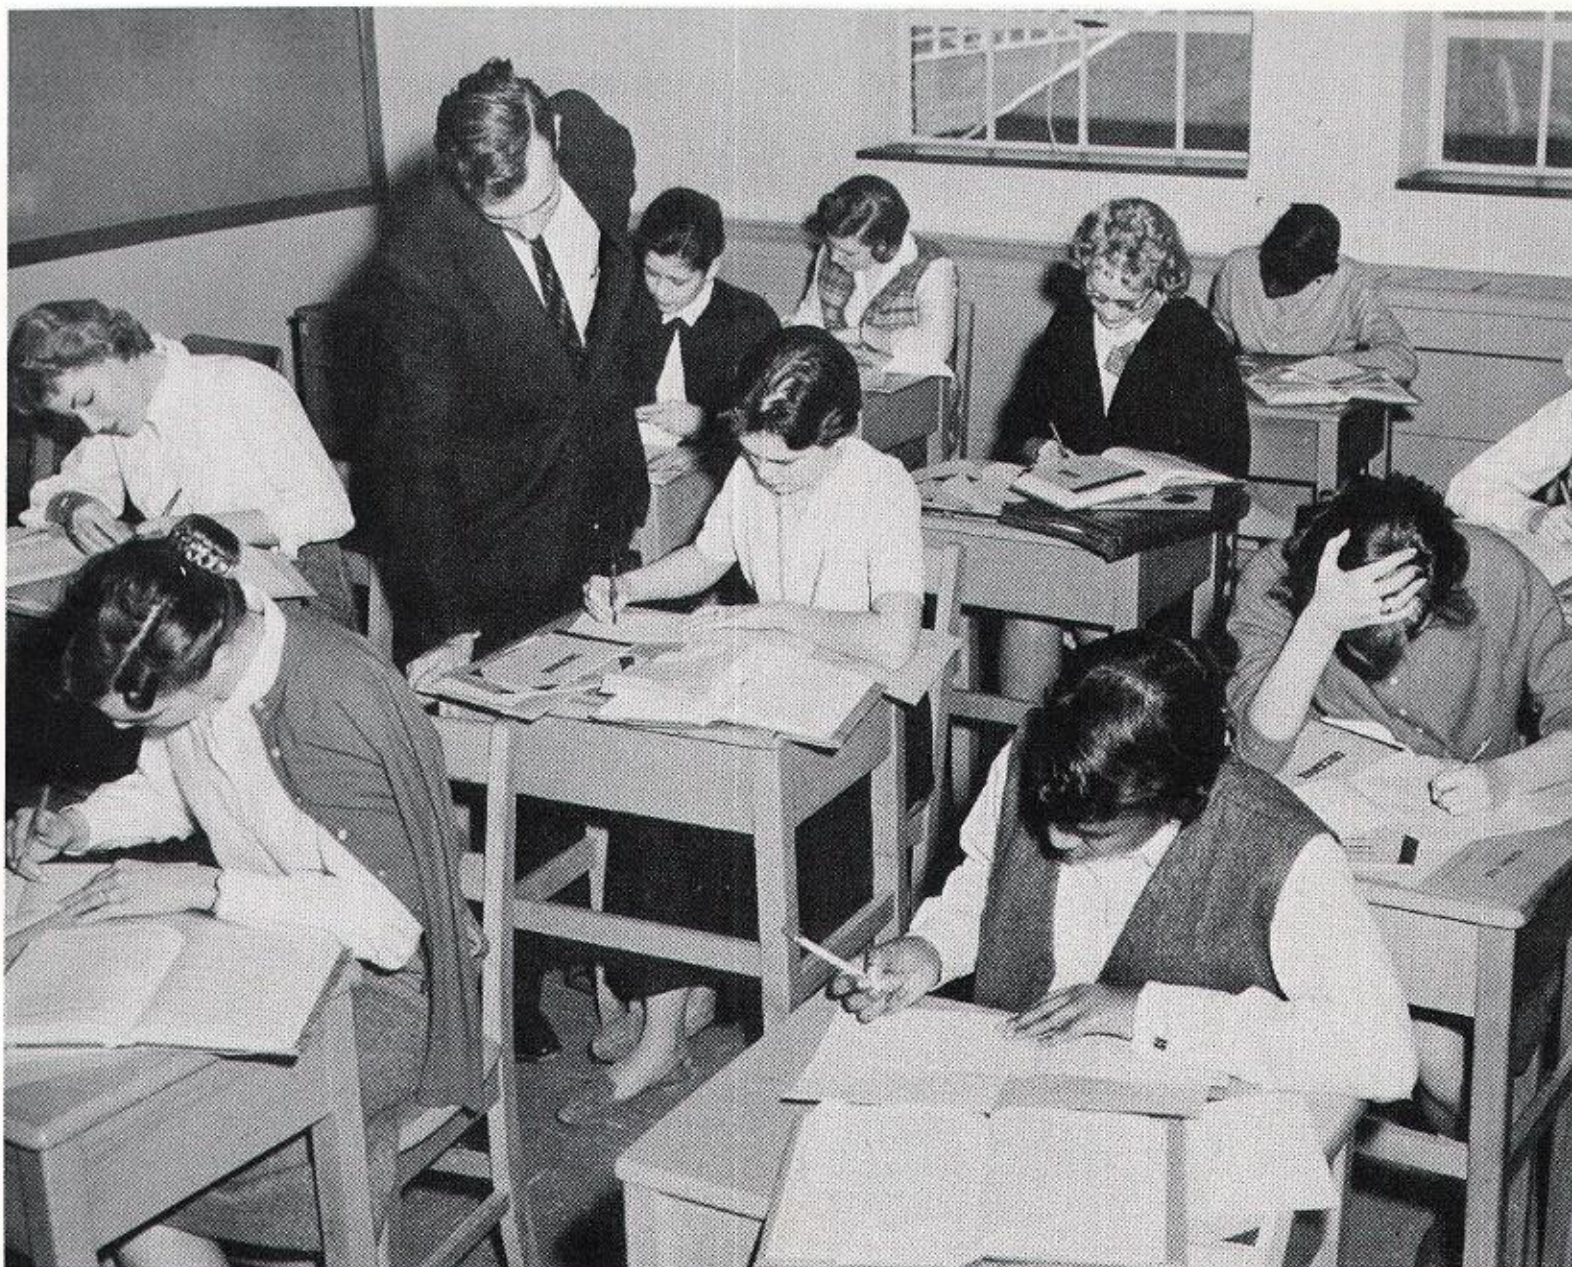

They could have danced all night—if they hadn't needed a break. Several couples relax between dances at the Silver and Gold.

No detail has been overlooked. Diane Stiller and her date serve punch to Warren Peterson and Alix Roterus.

In the crowd, it looks like this. The gloves, frothy dresses and the people.

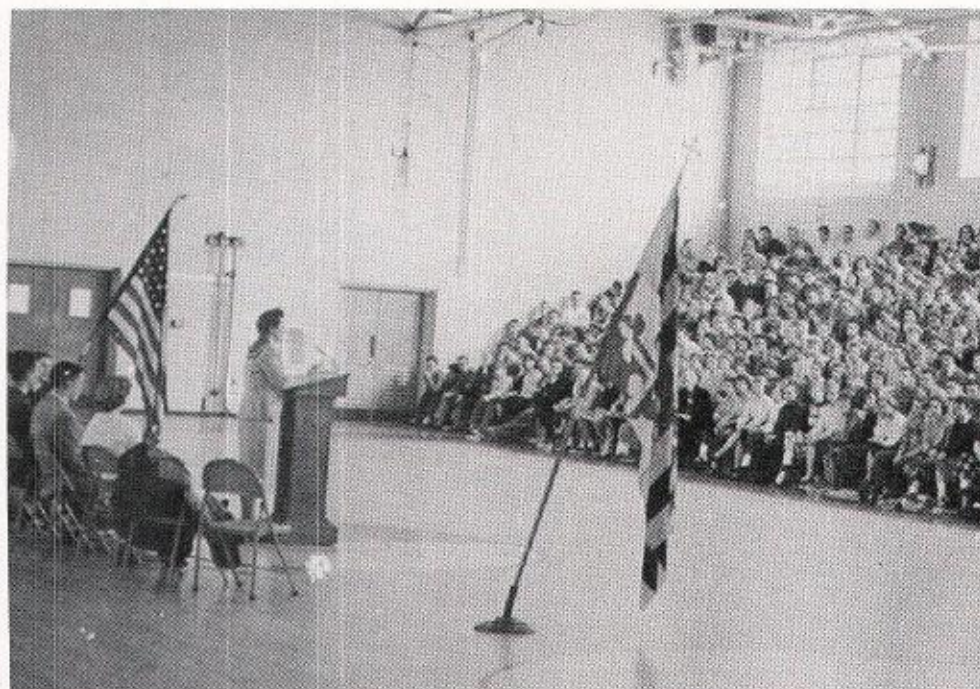

The eyes of the world are upon us—not only teachers, practice teachers, and student teachers, but also visitors analyze our reactions daily. But that doesn't faze us—outwardly we are slaves to our studies.

Warren Phillips determines the accelerating force of gravity.

James Albin takes pains with his work in Mechanical Drawing. All geometricians know what torture this is.

To Attain Our Aim

A voice of experience speaks. Miss Phelps explains the mysteries of those transcripts and applications to eager juniors.

Good advice always helps. Jim Shafer discusses a college catalog with Mr. Norris, the counselor.

For curious sophomores, alert juniors, and anxious seniors, the browsing room provides college and career information.

We Do Concentrate

With the opening of school came the dreaded thought of study. Often a favorite television program or a long awaited phone call seemed far more important than homework. The National Honor Society inductions left us with a feeling of awe and admiration; college boards and mailing applications rapidly approached us.

Science classes opened new worlds of interest; poems and stories read in English class held a special meaning for each student.

Studies began to seem more important, and this spirit grew through the year. We found that study begins in the classroom, continues at home, and climaxes in the attainment of lasting knowledge. To maintain high standards is to maintain Bethesda's top academic standing and our own success in the future.

Bob Lokerson holds an impromptu math class for his puzzled friends, who try to make the most of mathematics in one easy lesson. Our teachers have told us we can't learn anything in ten minutes' cramming but we can try!

The first reading is the hardest. Aspiring actors and actresses show their skill for Mr. Dalla Santa.

Drama Offerings One, Two, Three—

The art department convinced more than 50 people with this eye-catching display.

Paul Combs and Johnny Knight convince Cornelia Eakle they've been "thinking Eliza."

"A-a-a-h-o-w-w-w!
I'm a good girl, I am!"

"You won my bet! You squashed cabbage leaf, you incarnate insult to the English language!"

Producing Plays For All To See

With the announcement of each production, Mr. Dalla Santa found throngs of aspiring actors and actresses eager to read scripts for his approval. This formidable display of undiscovered talent presented many problems, but somehow a decision was reached and the play was cast.

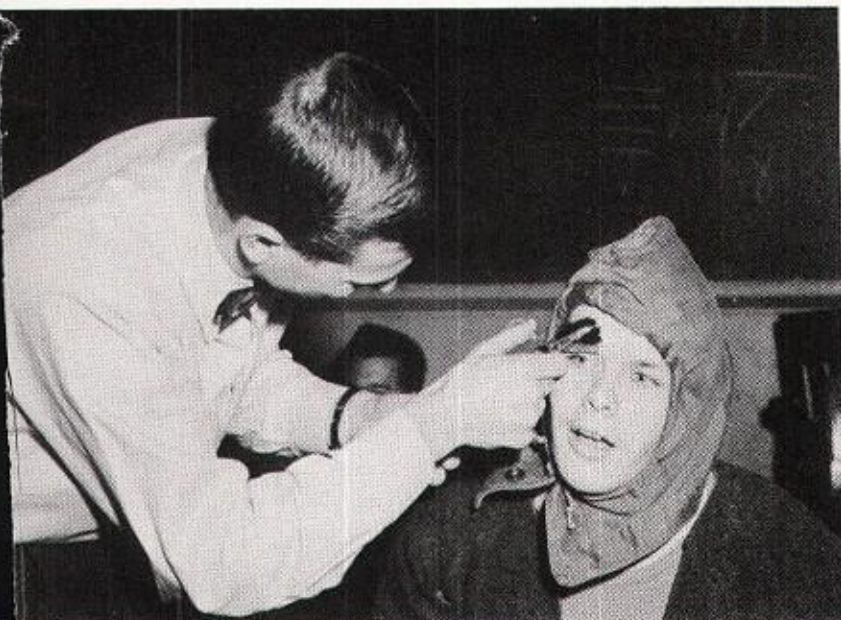

Pygmalion, the first production, gave us an opportunity to meet Professor Henry Higgins and that disreputable but charming flower girl Eliza Doolittle. Enthusiastic audiences forgot their own problems at the first sound of Eliza's outrageous cockney accent and privately resolved to speak better English.

The all-male cast of Stalag 17 threw the school into turmoil with its beards and shaggy haircuts. The boys took the inevitable jokes about Castro's rebels in stride and rehearsed tirelessly. The result was an amusing picture of the lighter side of a Nazi prison camp. Serious overtones added suspense, providing a perfect foil for the robust, earthy comedy.

The third production of the year, Lily, the Felon's Daughter, went into rehearsal as the yearbook went to press, but everyone knew a third success was guaranteed.

"Let's go over that line again, Phil." Student director Joy Hawkins helps the Stalag 17 cast.

Raised-eyebrow department for Dennis Johnston. Mr. D., not Castro or the angry young men, inspired those beards.

Hank Glassie uses stealth. Realistic conditions were simulated with stove and cots, stacked in the front of the classroom by day.

Chow line. Peter Imirie dishes out "tea" to Dennis Johnston, Tom Lobred, Hank Glassie, Mike Wilbourne, John Bassett, Pieter Wensink, and

Charlie Vest. Hours of practice resulted in "one of the best plays I've ever seen."

When Mr. Baron joins the cheerleaders, the crowd goes wild and the team comes through with another score.

We've Got Steam

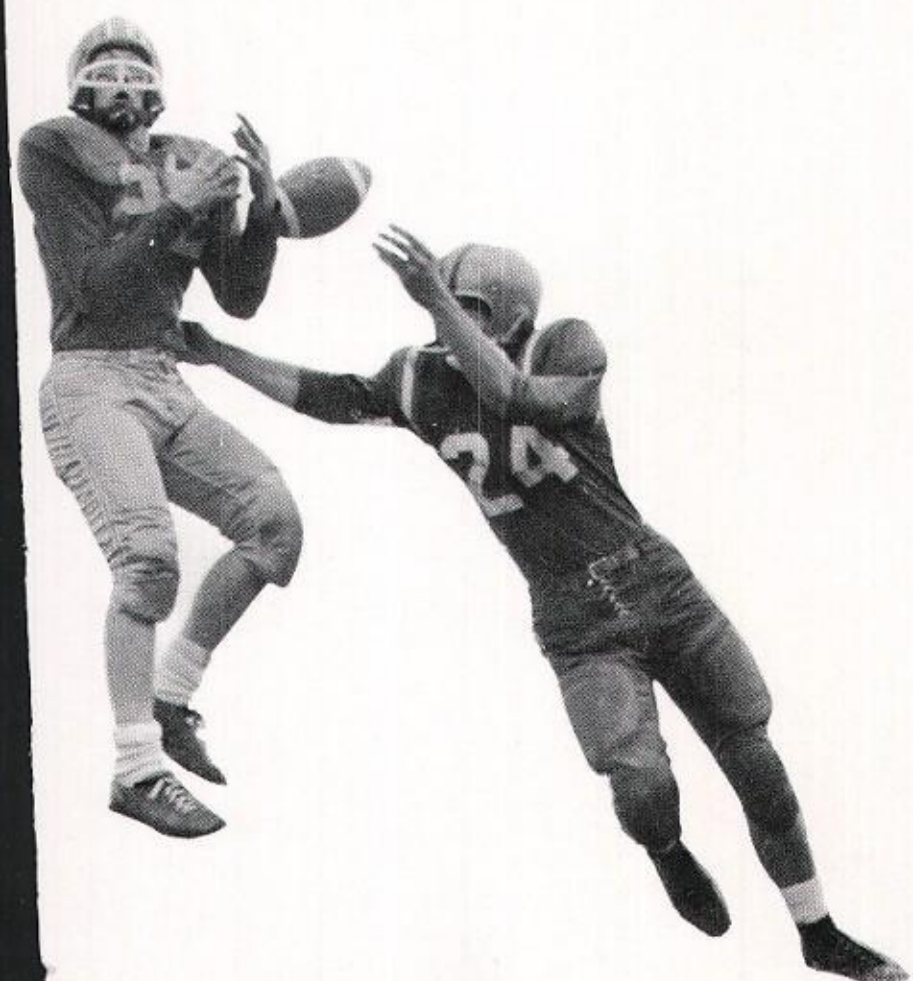

Even if we aren't members of the team we are charged with the same excitement the star half-back experiences. Everything is a pleasure, whether it is decorating the car, climbing the bleachers, or making the pilgrimage to the Hot Shoppe after the game. If it rains, we have fun getting wet. If we cheer ourselves hoarse, we can still croak happily as our team displays its skill.

Loyal fans came in bitter cold or soaking rain. Parents joined ranks regularly but were honored at the game with Walter Johnson.

Flag Twirlers, major pom poms join the band in a colorful half-time show.

Bill Browning thought he had this one until a Wheaton player knocked it down.

Coach Davis and his son, our mascot, have just witnessed another victory; JV Player Madden heads for the showers.

To Back The Teams—Win Or Lose

Mike Jecko brings one down the court under the watchful eye of the referee and the hopeful attempts of the High Point players.

Our Orchestra Practiced To Perfection

From last year's production of HMS Pinafore, Mr. Messick changed to a Japanese theme. The Mikado, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, was chosen as this year's showcase for the talents of the sophomore chorus. Singers for the leading roles were selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Our own orchestra under the direction of Mr. Petranek provided the musical background, while the following assisted in the production: Mr. Butterfield, Mrs. Anne Chodoff, Mr. Motovich, Mrs. Kenneth R. Kenerick, Mr. Mullin, and Mr. Williamson.

Our curiosity was piqued by students in Japanese costumes and a display featuring cherry blossoms, sampans, and a building labeled Oko Moto's Suki-yaki. Public interest was steadily mounting when the flu germs struck and the Friday night performance had to be cancelled. Saturday evening the cast was delighted to be playing to a packed house—gym, that is. With kimonos and cherry trees to lend the proper atmosphere, a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was successfully adapted to our theater in the round. Operetta fans were still able to recognize Yum-Yum, Pitti-Sing, and other famous characters in their new setting, while the uninitiated discovered the gay music and the pleasant nonsense which made The Mikado so popular not only with young people but with everyone who likes fun for its own sake.

This total cast picture tells the story! Cooperation was imperative and cooperate they did. Local critics praised the show.

Mr. Messick rehearsed before school, after school, and during classes for the operetta. The Tenth Grade Chorus strove for perfect pitch and clear diction. Lead roles filled by sophomores demanded additional hours of drill and practice.

We Will Remember

Studying everywhere, we even studied while waiting for the bus.

Bunnie Illis featured a pixie hair-cut while Pat Slinn was one of the many wearing leotards.

Mr. Norris advised us in choosing a suitable college.

Miss Sherwood was retiring and students will remember learning Spanish in her classes.

The cafeteria line was a double one and never-ending for students, for classes arrived at 15-minute intervals.

Trophies such as these held by Bob Coherd and Bill Browning, co-captains of the track team, were won at the Star games. Bob holds the second place trophy while Bill has the one won by the mile relay team.

And there were the slip-ups! Unaccountably the football slipped through Dave Karr's fingers during the High Point game.

The Hot Shoppe and the intersection were our second home. They, too, had changed with B.C.C.

Dress styles may vary—we've even survived a sack and trapeze stage—but yearbooks remain the same.

Ten years ago this model of the Iwo Jima flag-raising spearheaded a Career Night.

Sledding down onto the football field was merely allowed, but faculty-endorsed.

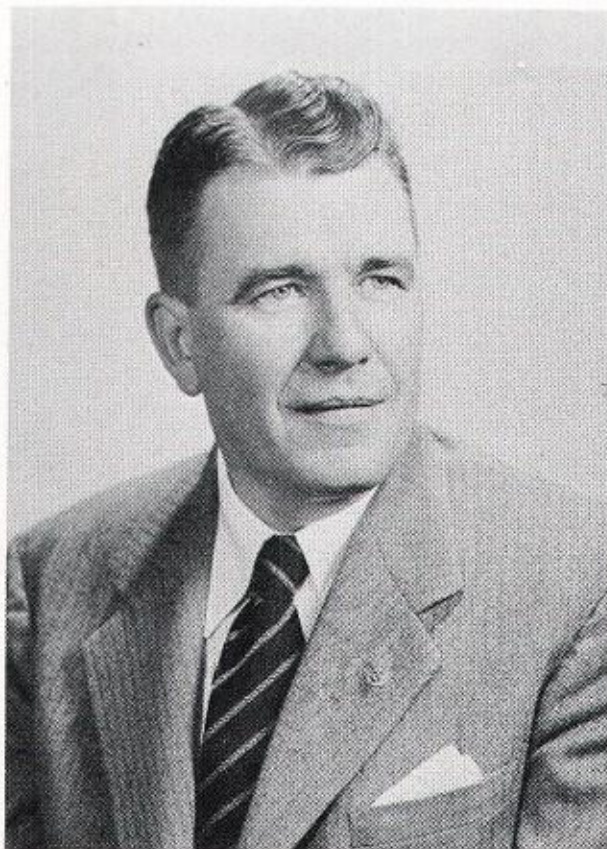

Students and Faculty

Basically students and teachers never vary. The teachers are still trying to add to our store of knowledge and are still meeting opposition. We still think we know all that's worth knowing. But we have changed — there are more of us, more courses offered, more buildings — shifting, changing, growing.

Tennis courts, quadrangle, and temporary building have given way to a boys' gym, library, and music building. The Ad Building has grown up, too, since 1952.

Learning To Use Our Own Language

"Vague—Be Specific!" This bold notation marches across too many of our papers. Almost without looking, we know that the red-penciled scrawl is another plea to us to clarify our writing. "Why all this fuss?" we ask. The teacher must know what we mean when we say "melancholy is when you're sad" or "Hamlet, obsessed to almost madness by the terribly frightful appearance of the ghost of his murdered father, continues to cleverly kill Claudius." Then we begin to think. The teacher must know, after all. Perhaps we should pay more attention to her comments and suggestions. Perhaps we should use our dictionaries and grammar books. We try, and are delighted with the results—a better mark, a pleased comment, and a stare of amazement from the teacher. We may not realize it now, but our new prowess in English has given us much more than a good grade or a bigger allowance from our happy parents. It has given us the ability to express our own ideas clearly and to grasp the ideas and beliefs of others with new understanding.

Asking our neighbors isn't always cheating. Seniors have a jam session on Crime and Punishment.

Empty shelves mean busy students. Book chairman Mrs. Marquez finds another copy of David Copperfield.

Through Practice, Speech, And Drama

Urged on by love, fear, and irritation, Miss Casey's rapid learners analyze A Portrait of the Artist and To the Lighthouse. Anguished moans and shrieks of joy denote "Hopelessly Mediocre" or "Effective" writing.

Contemplating Evolution Of Civilization

Living near Washington is like a long, noisy Fourth of July celebration. With firecracker unpredictability, historic events explode constantly with a blinding flash. Soon we become not only accustomed to it but almost deaf.

Fortunately a great variety of social studies courses offered at B-CC revives our interest.

As we study, our imagination enables us to climb the pyramids or cross the Alps on an elephant. We return to reality with endless debates and thought-provoking discussions of current events.

Whether we are militant debaters or quiet note-takers, we are deeply interested; so interested that we may still be mulling over the problem at lunch, after school, or at potluck. Even if the debates are never resolved, we have learned something many of us have never known before—there is more to a newspaper than the sports section.

Sue Godine and Bob Driscoll emphasize a bulletin board display during a report in World History.

Consternation felt by Mr. Taylor is enjoyed by John Robey who is glad to be merely observing.

Acquiring Knowledge In Scientific Fields

"T-i-g-e-r," we chemistry students mutter under our breath; "B-a-n-a-n-a-s." For the benefit of the uninformed, "Tiger" and "Bananas" are code names to help us remember those complex chemical compounds.

Across the hall in Biology, we found that even a one-celled amoeba is a complexity worthy of two weeks of detailed study—and homework. Wrapped in a neat cellophane bag and saturated with formaldehyde, the dissected cat was the culminating experience in Biology II.

We found that there were many things to be learned in Physics besides tangential velocity and the electric field. The proper ways to hang a clothesline or lift a piano through a fifth-story window were also included in the course of study.

It was hard work, but as we mixed chemicals and dissected radish seedlings, we began to realize that science is not to be confined to a laboratory or classroom. It is to be carried wherever we go as a key to understanding.

Attaining Proficiency In Mathematics

Classmates bury themselves in a morass of meaningless numbers and triangles which may or may not be congruent. Outside the classroom door, two repairmen begin working. In reality they are not noisy but to the would-be mathematicians the sound of their voices is magnified 1000 times. In response to the anguished murmurs of his pupils, the teacher goes to the door and closes it firmly. The chatter is instantly replaced by the ringing of the bell, the death-knell for many dreams of success in mathematics.

This scene is repeated again and again at B-CC, usually on a hot, sticky Friday afternoon. The individual who can lose himself in the delightful accuracy of mathematics is rare and fortunate. Most of us must be content to struggle and hope for the best.

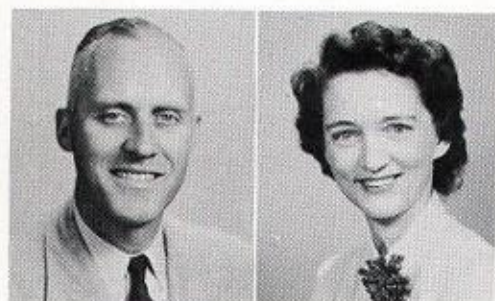

But whether we learn to reason in abstract terms through algebra or in concrete terms through geometry, we are acquiring the mental discipline and practical knowledge necessary for an orderly, well-balanced life.

Preparing For Future Business Careers

"Boy, I'm going to latch on to that old pay check the day after I graduate," is the boast of the commercial student. And it is no idle boast, for there are more jobs available than there are students to fill them. Most commercial students feel that their courses in shorthand, typing, and other business subjects are well worthwhile.

Even those of us who are not following a commercial course come into direct contact—or conflict—with the typewriter in a personal typing class. The typewriter, "the devil's own invention," can't spell or punctuate, and never behaves as it should. Sometimes, out of pure meanness, it won't even type. The keys stick, the carriage refuses to budge, and the irritated typist often makes matters worse by kicking the table. Nevertheless, we know that if we learn to use the typewriter properly, it will cheerfully furnish us with neat, legible papers and—possibly—better grades.

New Tongues For Different Languages

Fractured French? Not at B-CC. We learn our grammar, study our verbs, polish our accents, and—voilà! Nous parlons français.

The benefits of studying a foreign language are tremendous. Latin students are able to translate mottoes and epigraphs. French students are able to order escargots in a restaurant, knowing full well that they will soon be eating snails. Best of all, anyone with a working knowledge of a language can enjoy a foreign film all the more, since he can understand what has not been included in the English subtitles.

Of course there are better reasons for studying language. Many of us will visit Europe and will be able to put our knowledge to use. Great books which lose some of their impact in translation may be read with greater pleasure in their original language. But even if we never leave the United States, or read Proust in the original French, we will have learned to understand and appreciate other cultures.

Physical Education Develops Fitness

Here in B-CC are we allowed to shout, slam doors, and at the top of our lungs? The gym, of course. Where would we go to let off steam and relax after all the tiring mental exercise?

From September to June the gym classes provide pleasure and relaxation for everyone. In early fall girls take to the gymnasium. Amused spectators might warn you that the girls try golf and archery, too. Touch football, soccer, and other rugged sports are offered to the boys who stay outside when cold weather chases the girls into the gym.

Both boys and girls enjoy basketball and tumbling indoors during the colder months. Spring brings everyone outside again for track and softball. Participation in these varied sports develops sportsmanship and teamwork as well as providing that welcome lift which carries us through the school day.

Skills For Careers

What is satisfaction made of? In the shop, it is made of patience and skill and an appreciation of fine craftsmanship. To home arts students, satisfaction is made of compliments. Who is not pleased to hear someone say "Did you really make it yourself?" or "May I have a bite?"

A neatly executed problem in Mechanical Drawing, an end table made in Art Metal, or a rifle rack made in Wood Shop result in pride in one's achievements and development of a skill.

Students are gratified to see the display cases in the Administration Building featuring their products and to know that, this year, displays were also placed in the Lounge where school visitors could examine and admire the handiwork.

The Arts Building is the scene of tangible achievement no matter what floor you happen to visit. Enough patience always results in success.

Satisfaction is made of many things—fluffy biscuits, a clever design, appreciative audiences. But, most of all, it is made of our willingness to work and our ability to create.

Vicky Watt, Kay Voorhees, and Ann Lloyd practice modern cooking techniques in two-tone formica kitchens.

David Powles and Tom Hopkins thread a plug for an oil pan, while Ken Shriver saws intently.

Under the guidance of Miss Sheehan, a Ceramics class produces many objects that will soon adorn their mothers' mantelpieces.

Fine Arts Courses

What is satisfaction made of? Soap chips, eggshells, and coffee strainers in the art classes where deft hands and lively imaginations transform these everyday objects into the unique and beautiful.

Marching down a soggy football field on a rainy Saturday, the band member wouldn't exchange his place for a warm, dry easy-chair. And what can equal the pride a choir member takes in the perfect pitch, warm tone, and flawless diction he has worked so hard to achieve?

Capable Attention Meets Our Needs

Floors unswept, lunches unprepared, switchboard unattended, transcripts unsent—chaos supreme. Such would be the result if the personnel represented on this page came down with the flu on the same day. When all our needs are supplied and everyone is satisfied, we passively accept the smoothly operating routine. But let fulfillment of one request be delayed and listen to us holler—and we don't mean "Yea, team" either.

New Library Building

Bacon told us what to do with books, but McKinnell and Owen tell us where to find them. With handy lists and well-marked shelves, our library fulfills our needs, if you like the sardine atmosphere! The new library as well as the new music addition were promised by October, then December, then February, then March—well, you know the story. We're still waiting for Moving Day.

MRS. BETTINA McKINNEL, B.S. M.S.L.S., Librarian; MISS LOUISE M. OWEN, B.A., Assistant Librarian

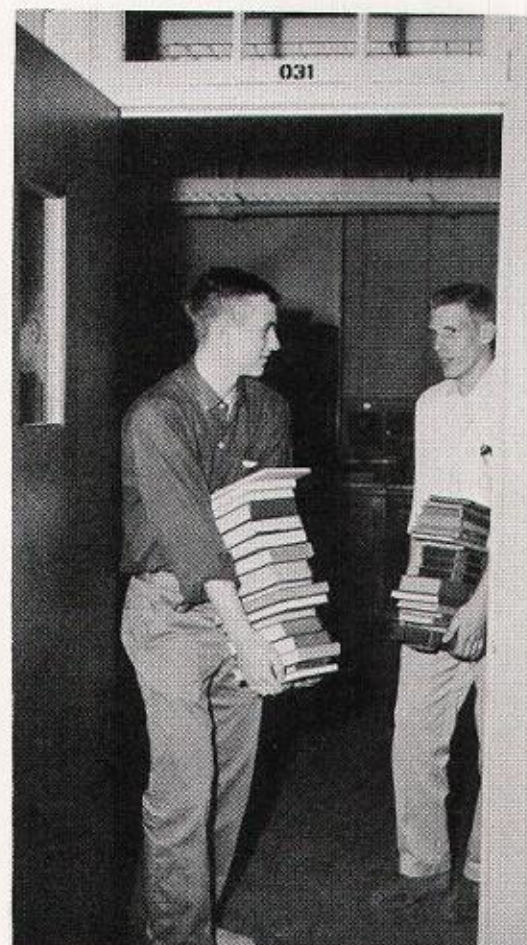

1947 our library was in what is now Mrs. Shaw's Choir Room. Increased enrollment forced us to quarters downstairs.

Formerly the Bethesda Public Library, our basement became our new library. We had more room, but we soon outgrew that space, too!

Bill Strohman and Mike Sutin show how they spent one Saturday.

Teachers Have

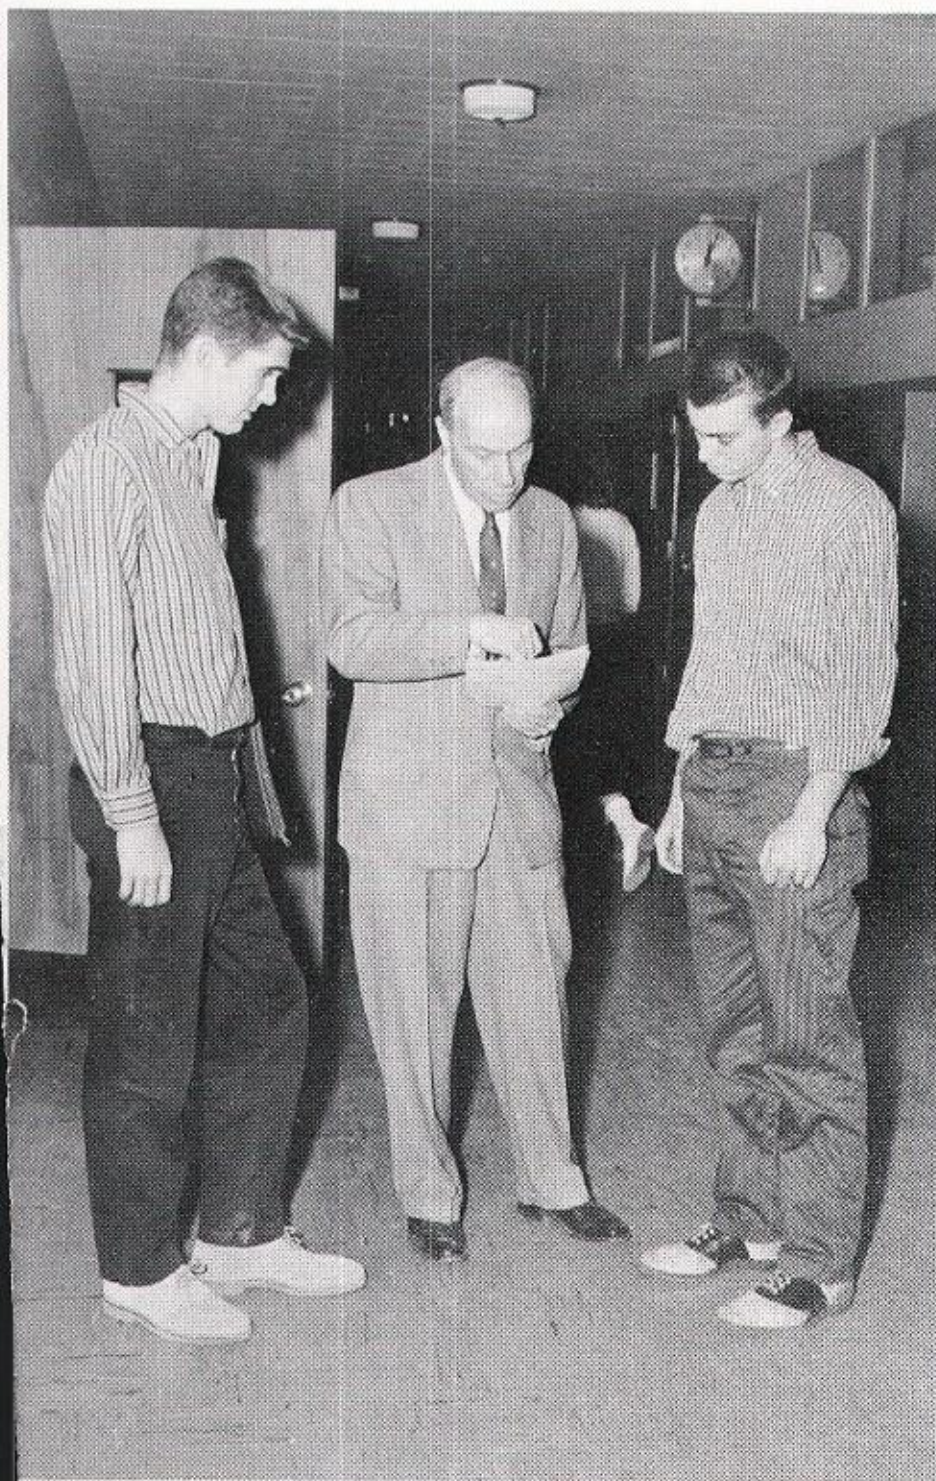

Mrs. Chamberlain joined the Home Arts Department in January, and the girls began planning their spring wardrobes. Eleanore Macomber and Sara Yanovich check their choice of samples.

The Home Arts Department redecorated dining room and invited the faculty to a warming. Mrs. Rowalt welcomed Mr. Kuda, Mr. Bradford, and Mr. Wall.

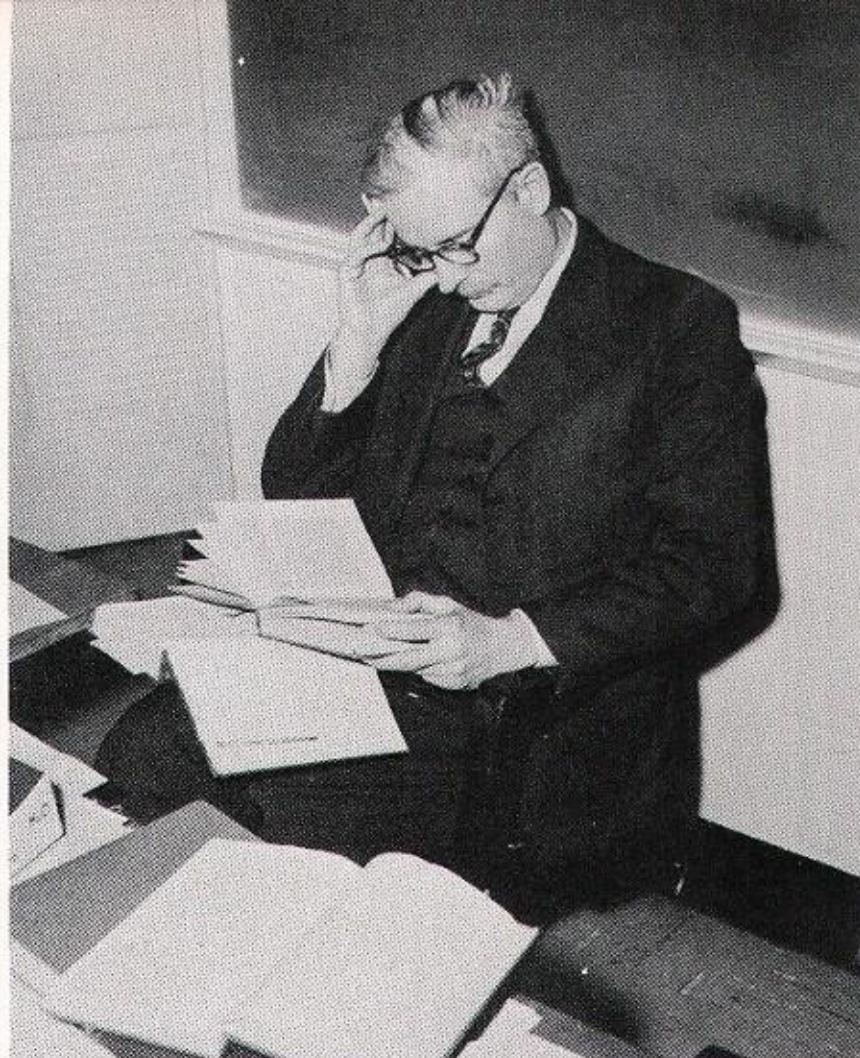

Newly instituted in the schools of today is coffee break during the teacher's planning period. Mrs. Garretson and Mr. Phillips help themselves. The cup rack was made in Art Metal by D. Brodie and Jerry Carter.

Lunch time it may be, but when students have a question they want an answer. Mr. Woolford stops in the hall to give Mike Jecko and Carl MacCartee a clue to the solution of the math problem.

Harry Dawson, Mrs. Hatfield, and Nancy Barefoot relax before the link opens for business. Business includes collecting shop fees and level fees; selling tickets to dances and away-games; collecting for budgets, yearbooks, and pictures; and operating savings accounts for students.

Keeping abreast of the latest developments in science causes the teachers to do additional preparation. Mr. Evans verifies his information for a lecture in physics.

An Endless Job

And sometimes the efforts of the teachers bring an expression of appreciation. Mr. Pyles congratulates Mr. Bender and Mr. Frisbie (hidden by our eager punch bowl hostess) upon twenty-five years in B-C.C. Our P.T.A. sponsored the tea.

SENIOR CLASS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Floor: B. Brooke. Seated: G. Warren; D. Sutin; J. Sommers; A. Lewis; M. Hudson; D. Lingle; W. Hughes, President. Standing: H. Richards, S. Carpenter, J. Patton.

Diplomas In Sight—Senior Year

We're the wheels, the big shots, the kingpins. Yes, no matter how it's expressed, we're the seniors and we like it very much, thank you.

There's no emotion quite like the surge of prestige that accompanies senior year. From the minute we return to school in September to the morning of graduation, we bask in self-importance. We walk on air buoyed up by the awed stares of under classmen and our own self-assurance.

There's something wonderfully exclusive about being a senior. The prom, commencement and baccalaureate belong to us alone. Senior Days? For Seniors Only! We also enjoy something called senior privileges, inventing the privileges to fit the occasion.

There's also a certain ease and freedom which is for seniors only. No one else could move about his daily affairs as nonchalantly as we do.

But being a senior is not all pleasure, for we hold positions of leadership and responsibility at B-CC. We're beset by application anxiety and college board jitters. Facts and figures make our heads spin. Black coffee and No-Doz have become staples in our diets as we struggle with Hamlet and the molal boiling constant. Every teacher seems to expect a term paper. We must make many decisions. Which career will we choose? Which college will we choose? Which college will choose us? Being a senior is hard work—but we enjoy it.

SENIOR CLASS COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN—Floor: R. Morse, M. Blackburn. Seated: M. Mather, J. Zwemer, J. Potter, W. Beard, M. Todd, J. Bartley. Standing: B. Davis, B. Burke, J. Hawkins.

We Wait For Weeks For Some Response

Measuring for caps and gowns is done in February. Girls are told to wear the heels the same height as those they plan to wear in June. Agnes Lewis adjusts Mildred Jeanson's gown, while Miss Cooke, senior class adviser, and the Balfour representative supervise the fitting of Mike Sutin. Jerry Berman checks the height of Mike Staren while Mimi Miller verifies head size of John Erler. Hugh O'Neill heads the line of waiting seniors.

The carefully rehearsed marching pays off as the gown-clad seniors become graduates of B.C.C.

Commencement Day arrives and the last minute adjustments are made. Why, oh why, do the tallest boy and the shortest girl always find each other?

The Letter Starts "We're Happy To..."

JUNIOR CLASS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE — Seated: M. Krause, R. Curry, K. Finstad, M. Olds, P. Fletcher, J. Gimmel. Standing: J. McFadden, D. Duvall.

Juniors Know—Till College Boards

"Well, g'bye now."

We take leave of our friends and join a small knot of determined people marching boldly up the stairs. A sign at the foot of the staircase plainly says "down," but we go right ahead. Stubbornness? No. We're just asserting a little of that independence that comes with being juniors. No need to lean on handbooks or other people's advice. We're able to take care of ourselves. Our Junior year is relaxed and carefree.

Realizing the value of school activities, we have descended in an avalanche on clubs and athletic teams. We've slipped into many patterns: the traditions, the accepted social customs, the latest fads. We would feel undressed if we appeared in school without a shaggy sweater, uninformed if we could not discuss Ocean City.

This is a year of new awareness and we haven't been idle. We have mixed enough work and responsibility with pleasure to be assured of success when we take our next giant step.

JUNIOR CLASS DELEGATES—Seated: P. Mitchell, A. Zieber, S. Marks, P. Donaldson, J. Warren. Second Row: A. Rice, A. Hofstia, B. Hamilton, H. Stout, K. Olson, K. Kittle, J. Brocksmith. Third Row: J. Bernstein, J. Loomis, D. Gambatese, D. Tedrow, R. Burns, R. Rupard.

SOPHOMORE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Seated: J. Dunton, President; J. Johnson; S. Gershen. Standing: J. Lake, H. Pearce, P. Craven.

Sophomores Plan, Organize, And Execute

Hurry! Hurry! Do this! Join that!

Scurrying crowds, endless announcements, and a thousand flights of stairs formed our first impressions.

We will never forget the events of those terrible first weeks of high school. The afternoon when we were locked in the building, the morning we were caught on a one-way stairway, and the day we learned about "senior privileges" are still vividly real to us.

But we're no longer the typical, bewildered sophomores, struggling about like lost sheep.

Through our executive committee, we're becoming an organized unit. We held class meetings and sponsored Snowed Inn. We've joined clubs, made new friends. B-CC's time honored tradition—Blair Week, Tri-Tilt, and potluck suppers have become our traditions, too.

We've suddenly realized that this is our school, and we want the world to know. Our buttons and pennants proclaim our loyalty; our cheers, our enthusiasm. Our support of school activities shows we're proud that we're from B-CC, our Alma Matter.

That gym floor actually shone once. Dances in street shoes have changed the picture slightly.

Cheerleaders for the Powder Puff Football Game go through a well-known routine.

From a mud patch in a clearing to the home field of winning teams, but still no seats.

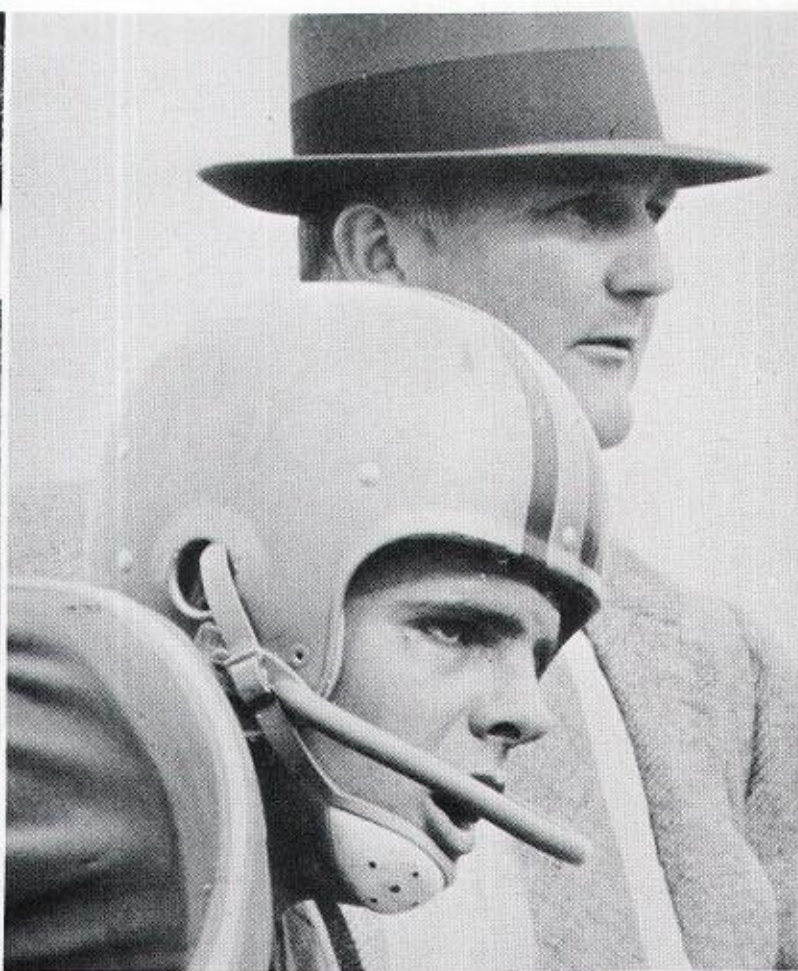

Varsity Sports

Once upon a time . . . Guckeyson Memorial Field wasn't. The Boys' Gym was the site of tennis courts. Most of us can remember teams that had as many losses as wins. But this year something new has been added — Bi County Champs in football, basketball, and track. A big change in '59.

We've outgrown the gym, so in sunny weather all-school assemblies are held in our newly-dedicated Guckeyson Memorial Stadium. Now neighbors see assemblies, too.

Fans and team overcome obstacles with spirit. An unknown supporter watches a close play; Don Ferguson and Coach Sadusky look down the field; and Mike Sutin drives for yardage in the Bladensburg game.

'Best All Around High School Team...'

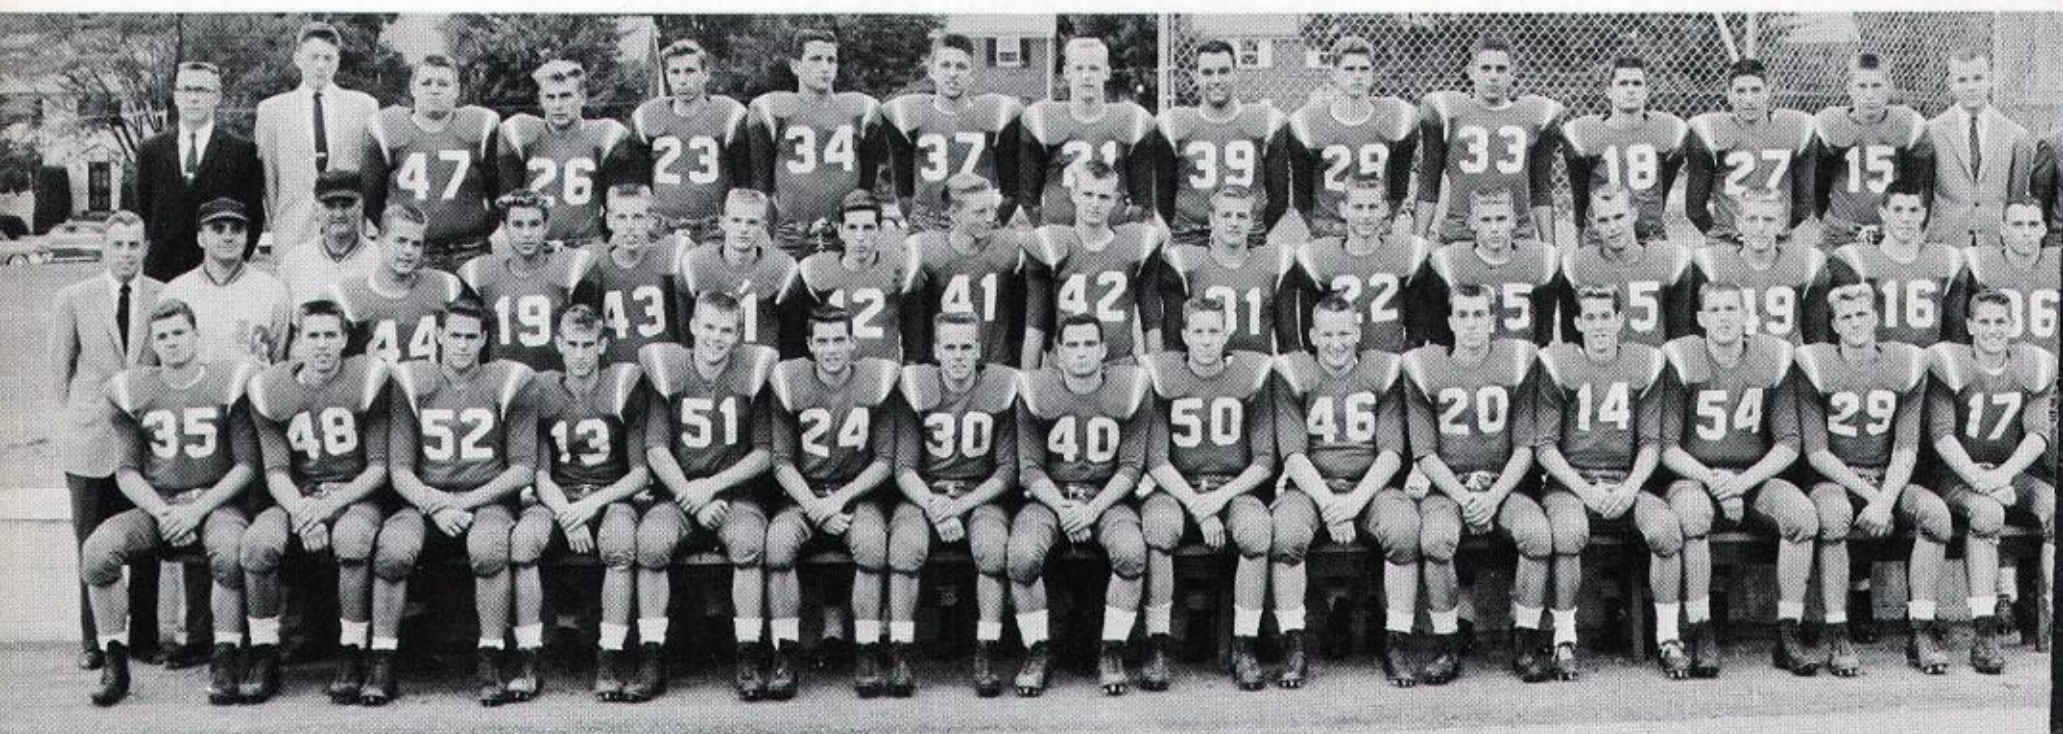

With a fighting spirit and with memories of the great teams of the past two years, the Barons took the field for the first game of the season against Wakefield.

The Barons were going to try to live up to the reputation established by the previous two teams, but they had no idea then that they would be described by Coach Al Sadusky as the "best all around high school team I have ever coached."

The Barons took the field against Wakefield, whom Bethesda had defeated the last two years in a row.

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM—Seated: W. Armstrong, D. Krueger, M. Lyons, M. Sutin, D. Prentice, W. Browning, D. Ferguson, W. Meyer, Thompson, M. Reese, C. MacCartee, D. Karr, B. Whittaker, W. Skaer, R. Harris. Second Row: R. Foster, Coach; F. Fitandies, Coach; A. Sadusky, Coach; A. Willingham, A. Dawood, W. Strohman, W. Shorrock, J. Durfee, F. Rolle, G. Brandt, T. Billingsly, T. Arata, J. Sherman, J. Megby, P. Countryman, P. White, N. Lee, E. Halpern, Manager. Third Row: J. Shafer, Manager; W. Riqua, Manager; H. Dawson, J. Roberts, R. Coherd, J. McCabe, F. Collins, W. Arick, J. Maher, J. Cobb, J. Clements, M. Trainer, P. Imrie, R. Guthrie, A. Marshall, Manager; B. Davis, Manager.

Any Doubts? 63-0

Capitalizing on a stalwart defense and a strong running attack, the Barons beat the Warrior eleven 19-6.

One of the toughest opponents of the year for the Barons was High Point. Nevertheless, the Barons came through for a 14-0 victory on touchdowns by Harris and Sutin.

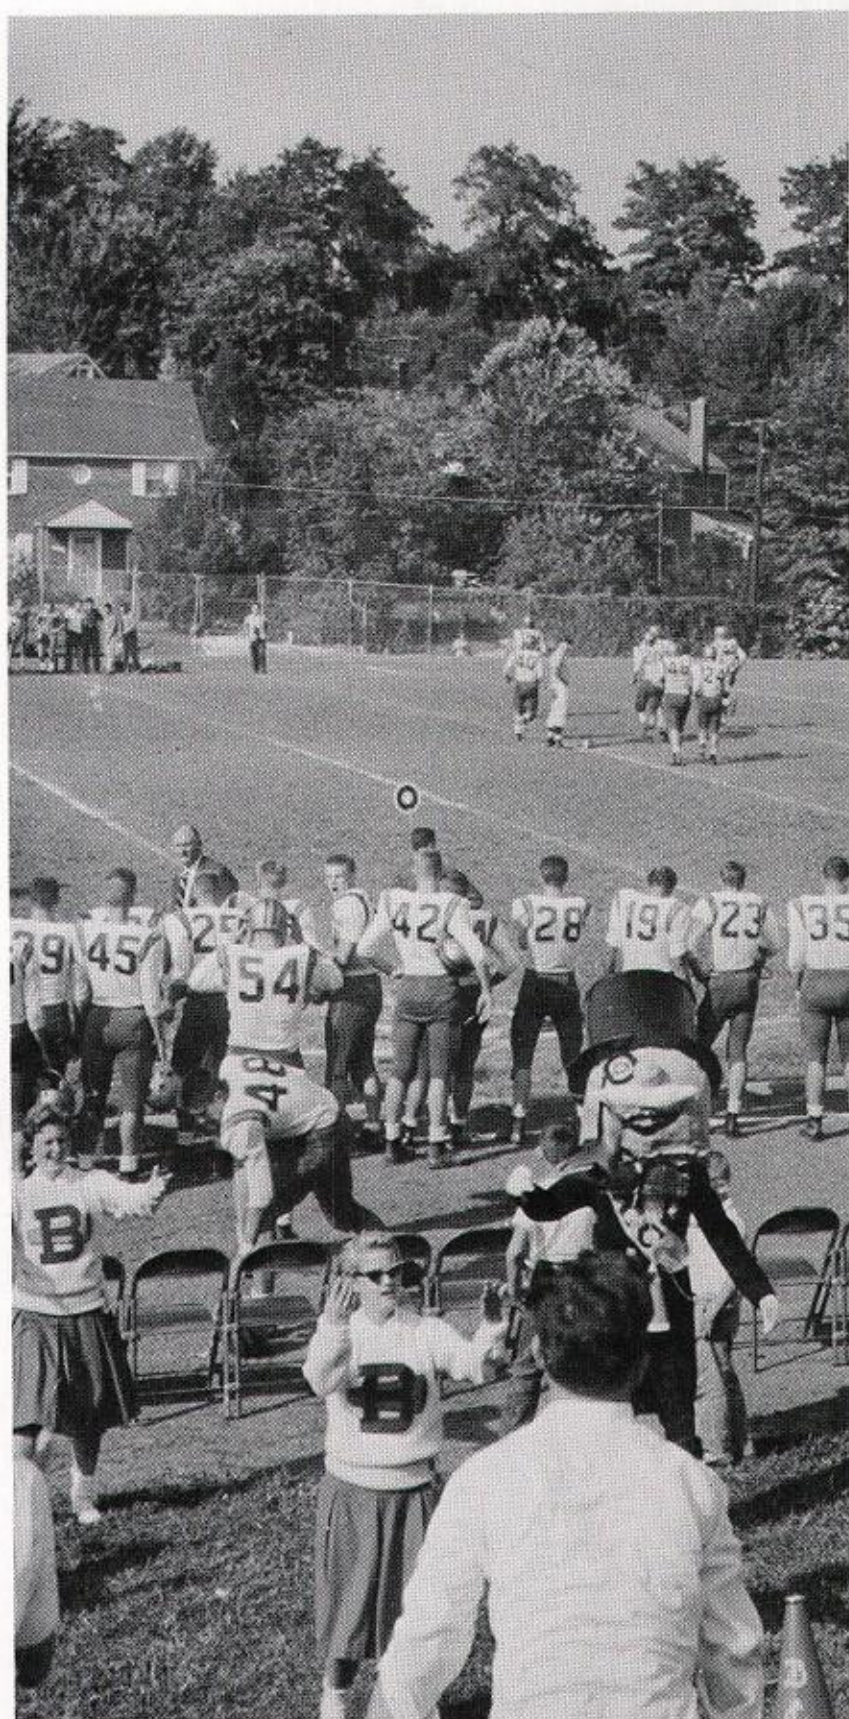

The following week Bethesda gained its third straight victory by trouncing a hapless Northwestern team 34-0. The Barons scored a total of five touchdowns, each by a different man, as the entire bench got into the game. Many Bethesda fans remember the words of Northwestern coach Dan Pajumbo, as quoted in the local newspapers, "B-CC will fall to fourth place by the end of the season. Walter Johnson has it all over these guys."

B-CC continued to roll over punchless Bi-County League teams by shutting out the Suitland Rams 25-0 in a night game at Northwestern Stadium. The Barons scored once in each quarter, held the opposition scoreless for the third consecutive game, and won their fourth victory in a row.

Leading by a score of 6-0 at the end of the first half against Northwood, B-CC returned to score 32 points in the second half to whitewash their opposition 38-0. Ned Lee scored twice while Bill Meyer, Mike Sutin, Bill Browning, and Butch MacCartee each scored once.

In their 32-6 victory over Bladensburg, B-CC justified its number one ranking in all three Washington newspapers, The Evening Star, The Washington Post and Times Herald, and The Washington Daily News. The Barons again displayed second half power by picking up 25 points in that period of time. Bladensburg was the second and last team to score on Bethesda all year. The score, however came when the Barons had only ten men on the field.

"Barons will be victorious." Mr. Baron cheers with Betty Wilcox and Judy Thompson at a home game as team members wait for play to begin.

Second place Wheaton was the team calculated by many to give the Barons the most trouble. Both teams were undefeated going into the game. Wheaton, however, had previously played one tie game. Bethesda jumped on the scrappy Knights and defeated them 27-0. Bill Meyer scored twice and Bob Harris and Butch MacCartee accounted for the other two tallies.

The stage was now set for the long awaited Walter Johnson game. All loyal Baron fans remembered the disaster that occurred on the cow pastures at WJ the previous year. Long hours of training went into perfecting new plays and new strategy. The work paid off as the Barons smashed a helpless Spartan team 63-0 to gain sweet revenge. Nine touchdowns were scored and B-CC enjoyed its most productive day of the season.

Now came the big test. Everything was at stake. Could the Barons stay Bi-County champions? Could they keep their number one ranking in the area newspapers? Could they remain undefeated?

All these questions were answered on a rain-soaked field at Blair Memorial Stadium where the Barons met arch-rival Blair in the final game of the season. Spirits were high on both sides, and although the rain slowed down the game to a certain extent, the Barons hung on and defeated the Blazers 13-0.

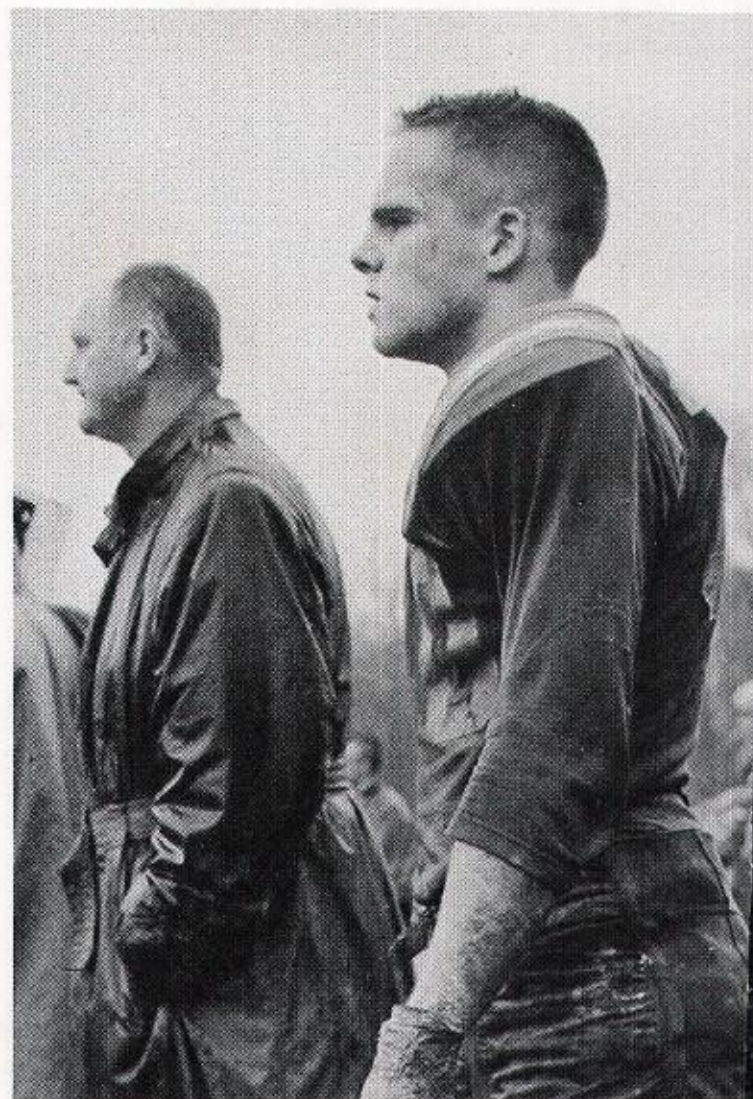

B-CC led at half-time 6-0 as the result of costly Blair fumbles and excellent running by halfback Bill Browning.

The Little Barons Held That Line, Too

The touchdown came when fullback Bill Meyer crashed over the goal line from seven yards out, late in the first quarter.

In the third quarter, B-CC crossed Blair's goal line twice. However, one touchdown was nullified because of a clipping penalty. The final score came on a pass play from Bob Harris to Bill Browning, who was standing all by himself a few feet from the goal line.

Blair presented no outstanding threat to B-CC. However, in the fourth quarter the Blazers penetrated Baron territory. They were led by the hard running of All-Metropolitan back Charlie Pryor and Bob Mitchell. The Baron defense then dug in and held Blair.

The Barons' stalwart defensive unit, noted all year for its superb performances, held the Blazers to 26 yards rushing and only one first down. The defense was led by guard Mike Reese, end Don Ferguson, tackle Bud Whittaker, and line backers Jim Thompson and Butch MacCartee.

Despite the rain that had fallen all afternoon, it was a happy time for all Baron fans, for B-CC had won the twenty-fifth of its last twenty-six games.

JV fans backed winners, too, for the Little Barons romped through 6 of 8 games, including a 7-0 victory over Blair.

Surveying The Chances For The Season

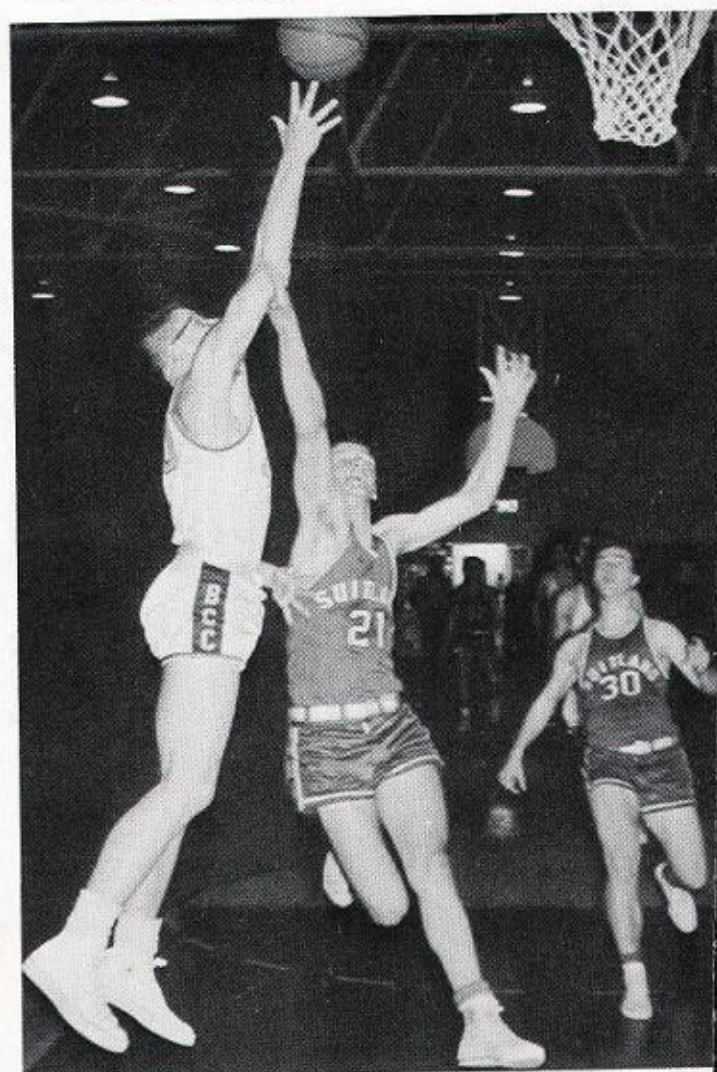

The approaching basketball season caused many Baron fans to wonder about the team's possibilities. Chances of having a Bi-County Title in basketball as well as football did not look very promising. Last year B-CC compiled only an 11-10 record; only three members of last year's squad returned this season, none of them starters. In addition to practically a whole new team, the Barons also had a new coach, Mr. Floris Davisson, who had previously coached in West Virginia and at Richard Montgomery.

After a couple of weeks of practice, the Baron Cagers took the floor against Wakefield. Stage fright and fine defensive play by the Warriors combined to defeat the Barons 55-37.

The Barons then opened Bi-County League play against rival Walter Johnson. The game proved to be one of the Baron's most spectacular victories. With eight seconds remaining in the game, the Spartans led 54-53. At this moment junior guard Dave Young swished a long set to give the Barons a 55-54 verdict.

After this scare, the Barons settled down to the business at hand. The next five opponents were also in the Bi-County League. The Baron cagers disposed of all of them: Suitland, Richard Montgomery, Northwestern, Wheaton, and High Point. Fighting a see-saw battle all the way, B-CC squeaked past the High Pointers 50-48. This victory gave B-CC a 6-0 record in the Bi-County League and placed them in the lead position.

Cheering A Team On To Victory

This winning streak was halted, however, when DeMatha, a strong Catholic League team, came to Bethesda. After a 53-53 deadlock at the final buzzer, DeMatha scored 4 points in the overtime to B-CC's 2; thus winning a 57-55 heart-breaker from the Barons.

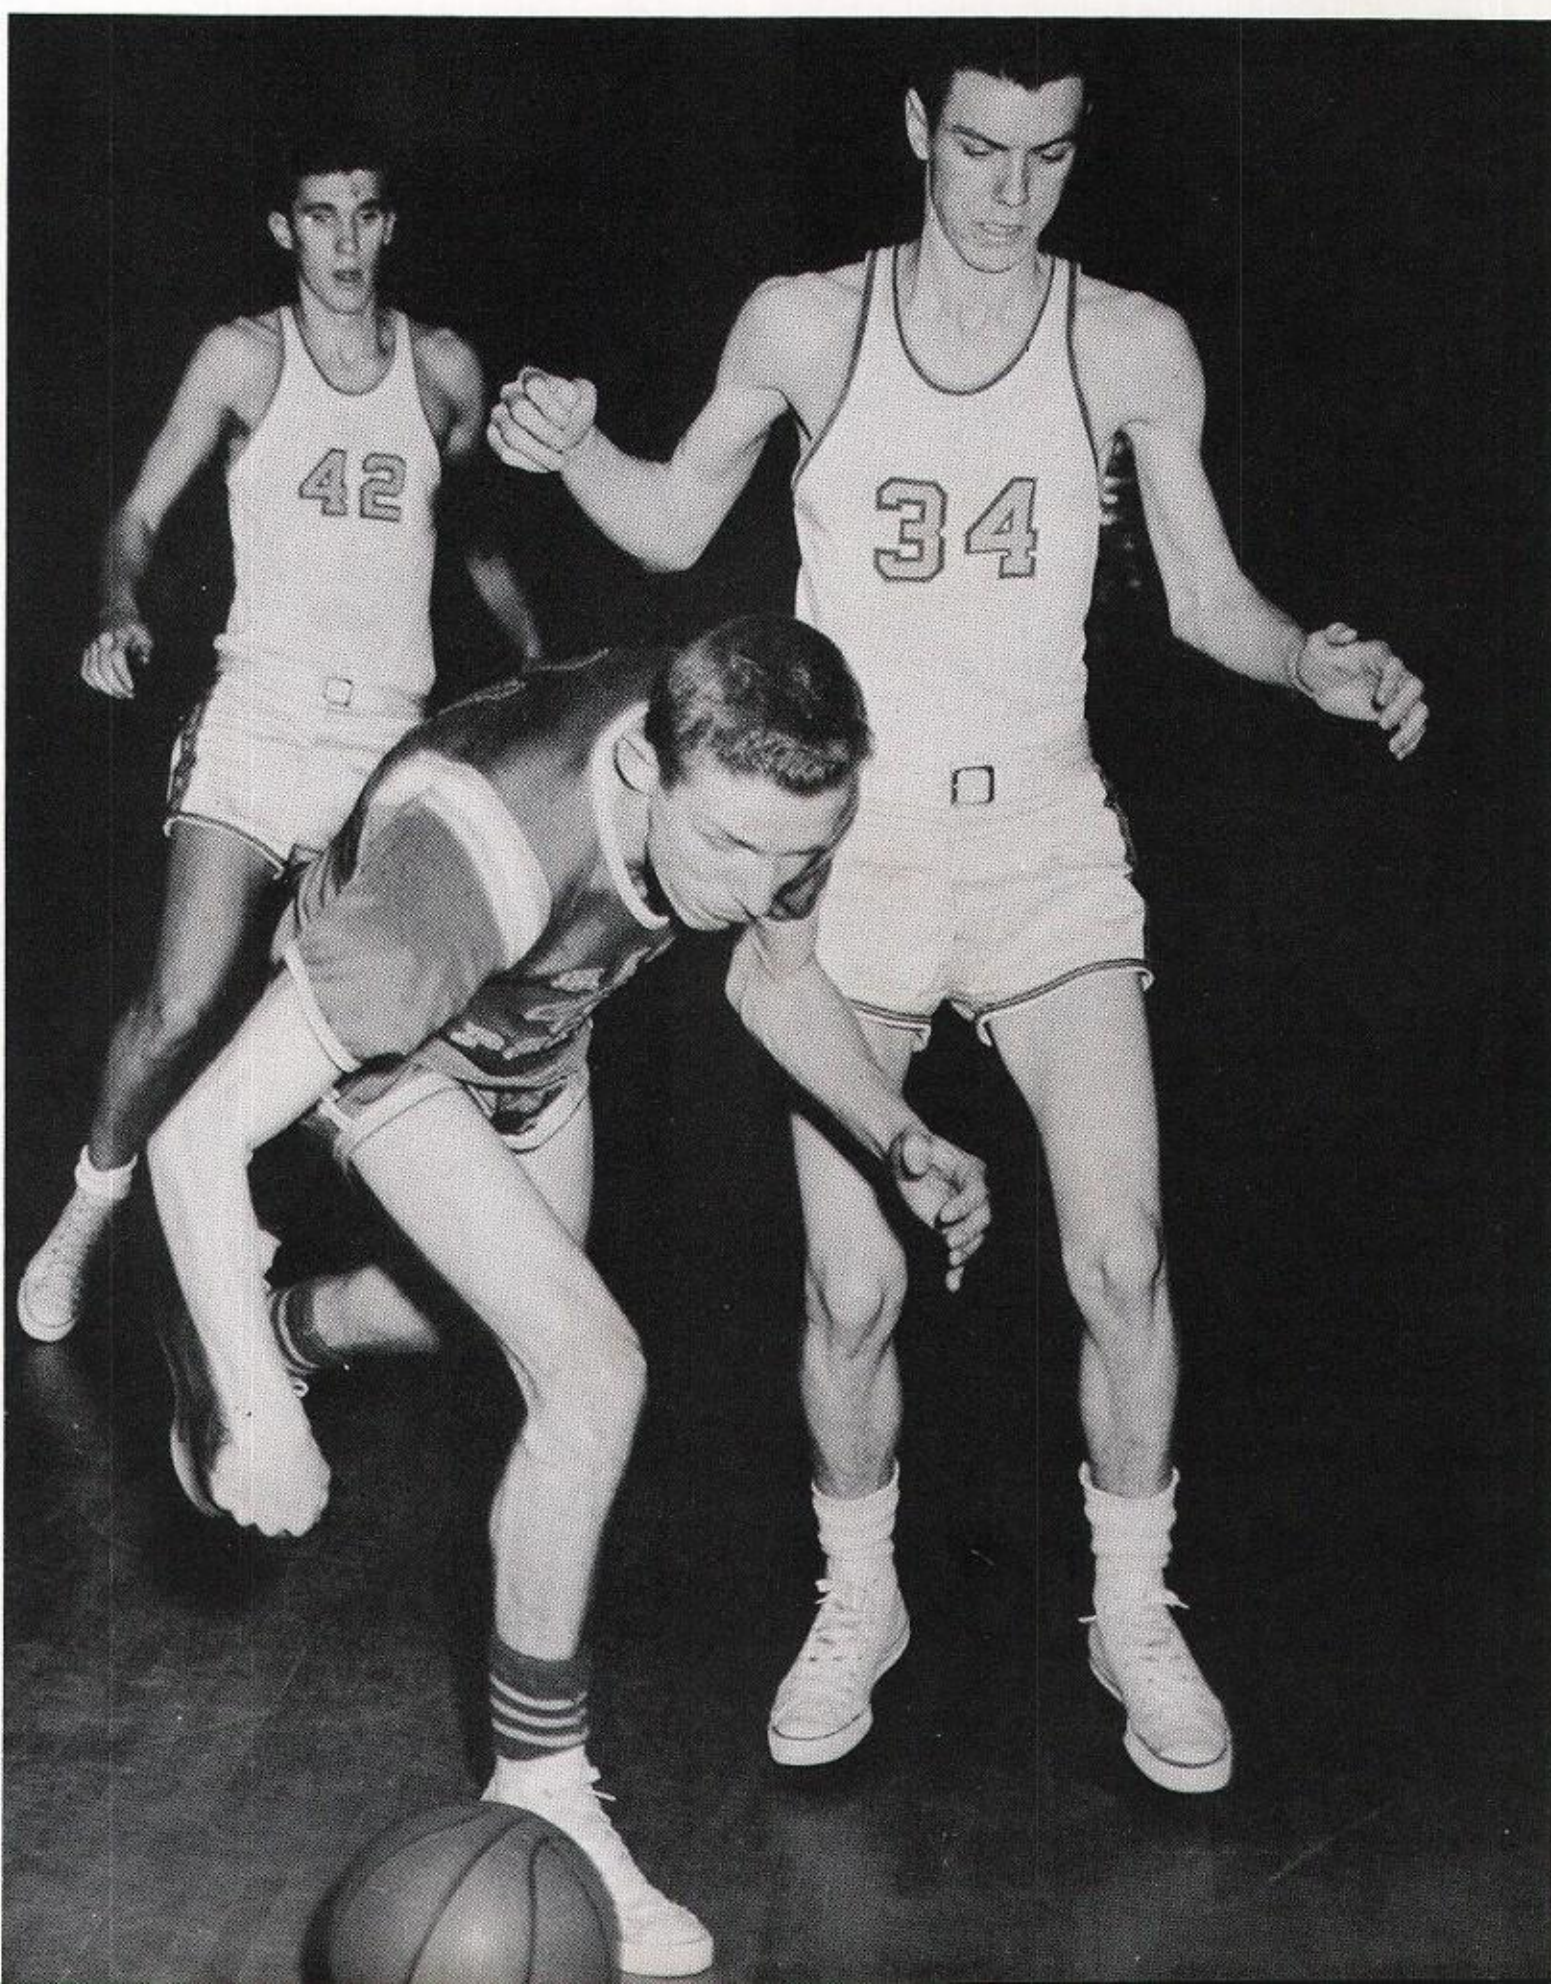

The next week B-CC took on Bladensburg, a Bi-County power. The Mustangs pulled the Barons out of the league lead with a humiliating 78-56 romp.

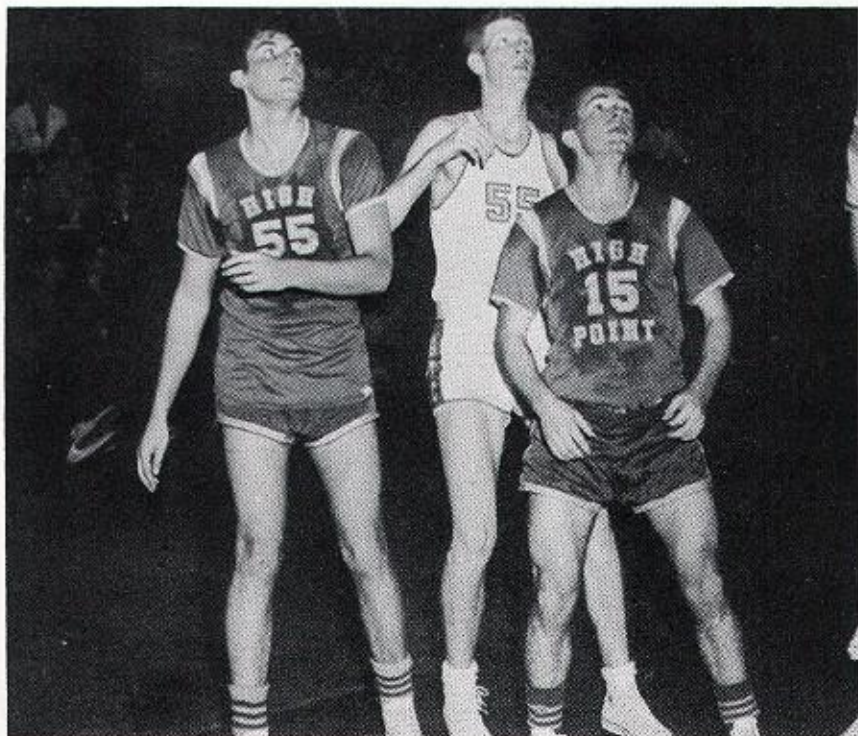

After this setback, the Barons again started a long winning streak. The first victory in this string was a long-awaited win over the Blazers from Blair, 68-50. Butch MacCartee led the Barons with 21 points as B-CC beat Blair.

Then B-CC met upstart Wheaton, resting near the bottom of the Bi-County League. Using a full-court press for the whole game, the scrappy Knights yanked B-CC out of first place with a surprising 73-66 victory.

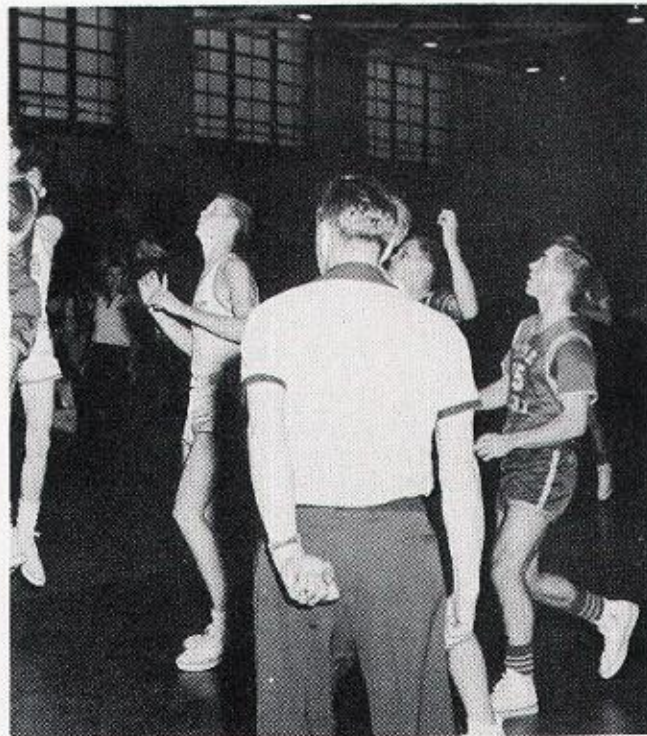

The Barons, however, came back to smother High Point 65-38. Preparations then began for the big return match with Bladensburg. If B-CC could win this one, we would tie for the league lead with Northwood. If we lost, we would be out of the race. Led by Butch MacCartee's record-breaking 34 points, B-CC defeated the Mustangs 68-65 and moved into a tie with Northwood. Fred Rolle was second high scorer for B-CC with 12 points.

Scoring To Be Bi-County Champs

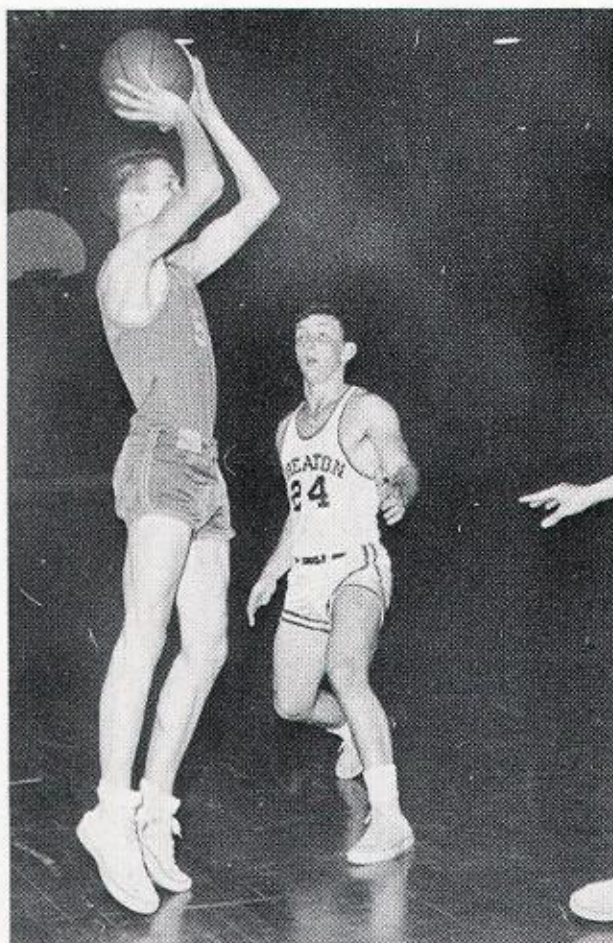

The last game of the regular season—with Blair—presented, as always, a big threat. Nevertheless, Bethesda overcame the Blazers for the second time by a score of 63-55 and ended the regular season with a record of 16 wins and 4 losses.

The Barons ended the season in a blaze of glory! After defeating Blair for the Bi-County crown, B-CC went on to the University of Maryland to play for the State Championship.

In the first game, Bethesda trounced Annapolis 85-48 to gain the finals. MacCartee led the Baron scorers with 21 points. Brooks followed with 18.

In the championship game, B-CC met a strong Howard County Squad which had beaten North Hagerstown the night before. The Barons jumped off to a 15-0 lead and were never in trouble as they easily defeated Howard County 75-49. High scorers for the State Champs were Young with 23 points and MacCartee with 20.

Promising Future For Our Squads

Under the coaching of Al Sadusky, the junior varsity also ended up as Bi-County champions. The Little Barons lost only three games all season. But only one of these losses was to a Bi-County opponent—High Point. The other losses were to Wakefield, in the opening game of the season, and to Western. The JV, nevertheless, had some close calls in the Bi-County League. They beat Walter Johnson, 43-40; Bladensburg, 62-61; and High Point, 42-40. Bill Connell was the high scorer for the team, and was backed up by Don Hoage, Dan Boone, Eddie Austin, and Austin DeWilde.

For the first time since the opening of the school twenty-nine years ago, B-CC had a Cross Country Team. The team, although it tried hard to get into the winning column, had a rather unsuccessful year, losing to Wilson, Blair, and St. Albans. In the Wakefield Invitational Cross Country Meet the team came in eighth out of a field of eleven schools. The average course is a two-mile path marked by flags. The first man in gets one point; the second, two; etc. The entire team's score counts, and low score wins. Fastest man on the team coached by Mr. Davis was Dave Vert.

'58 Champs—Hopes Are High In '59

With the beginning of track practice this season many pleasant memories were revived concerning terrific teams of the past.

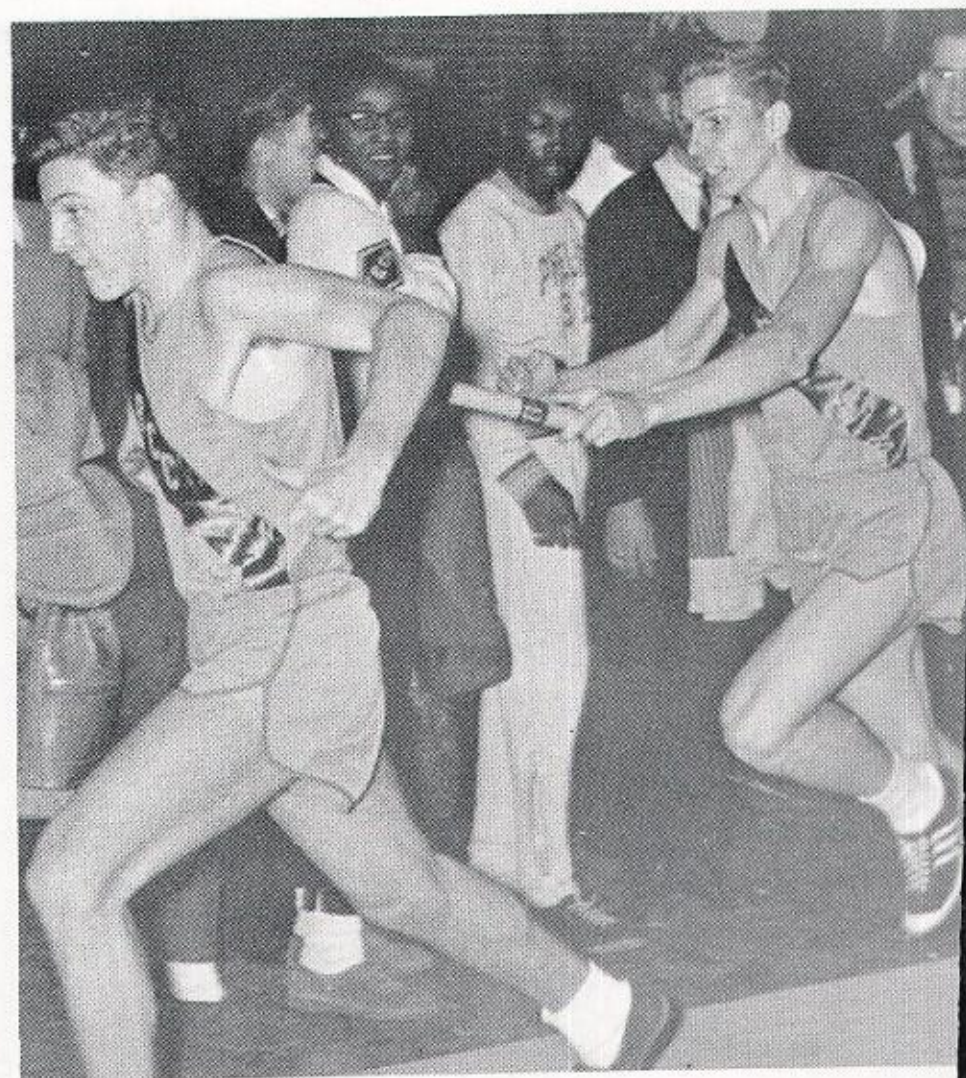

Last year's team was no exception. Relying mainly on sophomores and juniors, Coach James Davis built his team into Bi-County Champions. One mistake in a relay race in the Maryland State Meet, however, cost the Baron Cindermen the Maryland State Championship.

In the Wakefield Invitational Meet last year B-CC took third place. There were 25 Washington area schools competing.

The Trackmen walked over all Bi-County opposition last year in dual meets. We beat Wheaton by the phenomenal score of 108-9%. Our only dual meet loss was to Wakefield, Virginia, champions by the score of 67½-50½.

In the Maryland State Meet B-CC was leading going into the final event, the 880 relay. The Barons had to win the relay to take the meet. We won. But it was brought to the attention of the judges that B-CC did not pass the baton within the 20 yard limit on one of the exchanges. B-CC, therefore, was disqualified from the event and had to settle for second place.

This year for the first time Montgomery County schools were allowed to participate in the Evening Star games. Several members of last year's team, therefore, began working out for this pre-season track meet. After a month of practice, Coach Davis took the boys down to the National Guard Armory where the games took place. B-CC took second place out of 29 schools, losing only to Washington-Lee. The mile relay team, composed of Paul White, Bob Guthrie, Knight Bowles, and Art Gauss set the meet record and provided B-CC with its only first place.

The Weather Gets Warm—We Play Ball

The Baron Diamondmen, coached by Mr. Fred Fitanides, played 13 games, all against Bi-County League opposition. Their final record was 5 wins and 8 losses.

The Barons opened the 1958 Baseball Season with an impressive 6-0 victory over a strong Suitland team. The Rams had previously defeated defending champion, Montgomery Blair. Mike Sutin pitched the game and allowed only 3 hits for his only victory of the season.

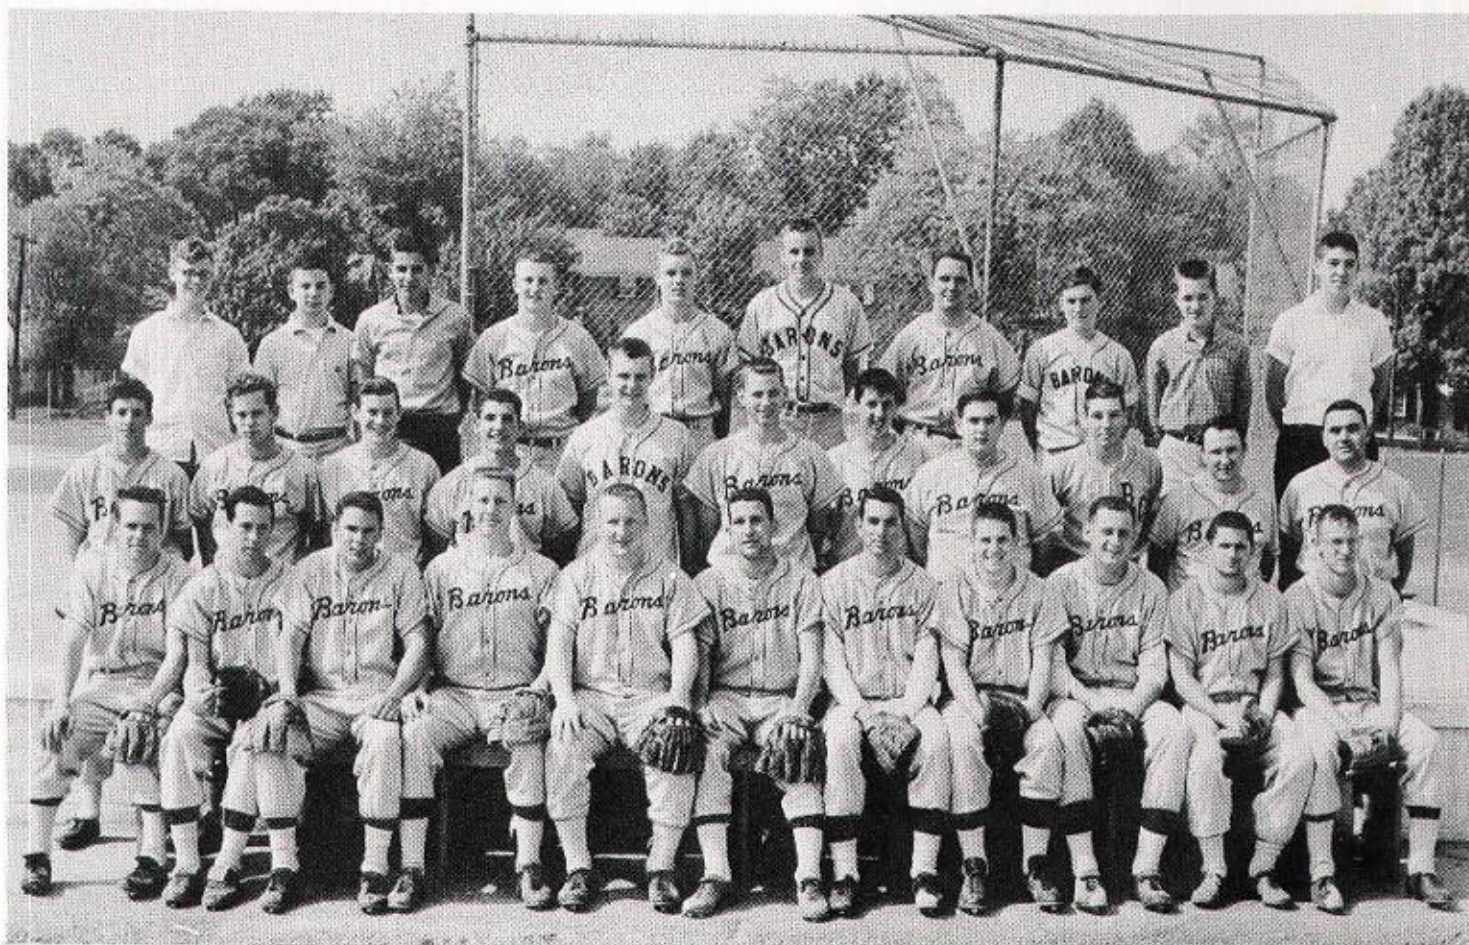

After this sparkling beginning, B-CC proceeded to lose

3 in a row, including a 3-0 loss to the Blazers of Blair.

Oxon Hill finally broke the Barons' fall. Behind the hitting of Ken Smith, Neal McDuffie, and Jim Carone, B-CC went on to a 9-4 victory.

Returning to the squad this year were Mike Sutin, who handled most of the pitching chores, Carl Apstein, Jim Thompson, and Richie Cone. Coach Fitanides had to rebuild almost the entire team since Sutin was the only regular who returned.

Girls' Athletics Here

Something new has been added to the girls' physical education classes. This year, for the first time, each class has six weeks of instruction in health. The girls were also surprised to find new tumbling equipment—a trampoline and a vaulting box for more difficult stunts.

No change has been made in the basic program, designed to develop the right muscles and release pent-up energy. The girls sampled many individual and team sports. The football field resounded with the clash of hockey sticks. Teachers kept their classroom windows tightly closed as a protection against flying arrows.

Have Honor Teams

Basketball and volleyball attracted more eager athletes. Tumbling was another favorite sport despite complaints of broken fingers and twisted ankles. Most girls forgot their injuries—real or imaginary—and bounced happily on the trampoline. The girls with clenched fists and grim faces were a familiar sight at a nearby bowling alley. Typical bowling addicts from the girls' gym class, they relied more on luck than skill to direct the ball into the one-three pocket. Spring softball meant curlers, dark glasses and suntan lotion for the athletes who had never forgotten the importance of being feminine . . . in leotards!

Activities

What's the good word? Togetherness! Never before have we been such eager joiners, such compelling leaders, such willing followers. And never before has there been such an assortment of organizations from which to choose — whether our particular enthusiasm is Aristotle, precision marching, or change in the Limitation of Activities.

The Student Government Association

The Executive Committee of the Student Government Association, consisting of elected officers and committee chairmen of S.G.A., provides a link between the administration and student body.

An elected representative from each homeroom brings its suggestions to Representative Assembly and keeps his section informed of S.G.A. business.

The heads of all school organizations and publications meet monthly at Cabinet to coordinate activities.

Promoting good student conduct is the aim of the Citizenship Council, among whose members are the class parliamentarians and the chief justice, who presides.

S.G.A. is present in all phases of school life through its committees which encourage all students to participate actively in S.G.A.

Honorary Societies

The highest honor a high school student may obtain is membership in the National Honor Society. Chosen for outstanding scholarship, service, leadership, and character, members of the B-CC Chapter operate a tutoring service and assist in the offices of the Administration and counselors.

Honor students in journalism are tapped for Quill and Scroll. Thespians inducts dramatic students whose membership climaxes one hundred hours of active participation. B-CC's drama productions this year included Pygmalion, Stalag 17, and Lily, The Felon's Daughter.

School Life Reflected In Its Publications

Our schedule read: "Room 239—yearbook staff." After hours spent identifying pictures, planning original lay-outs, and writing fascinating copy, we began to realize what producing a yearbook meant. We met deadlines by staying after school and losing precious hours of Saturday morning sleep. Then one day we realized that we had produced your Pine Tree for 1959.

"The Tattler is out." Behind these words lies an enormous amount of work. Besides the actual writing, routine jobs include endless proofreading and paste-ups which often require hours outside of school. The conscience-pricking editorials, the write-ups of sports and school events are not the product of minutes, but they result in a national award-winning Tattler.

Angelic Voices Ring

This year's Junior Choir presented Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado for its annual operetta. Composed of sophomores, the choir performed at several assemblies and at graduation.

Through the years our A Cappella Choir has won acclaim and praise for B-CC. We are given the opportunity to appreciate them at N.H.S. assemblies, the Christmas concert, and Baccalaureate. As much in demand within the community as within the school, the A Cappella Choir began a busy year by its performance for the Montgomery County Teachers' Association. The choir gives an annual concert at the Washington National Cathedral, an event eagerly anticipated by members and public alike. Many countries are represented in the choir and colorful festivals of folk songs and dances are produced for our enjoyment. Participation in the Catholic Festival and in Maryland University's Choir Day leads to high ratings from the judges as rewards for hours of practice. The choir's madrigal singers, a small group in great demand, have sung at the Newcomb Club in Bethesda and at American University.

Friends All, We Rival In Service

Our new pine tree . . . the new scoreboard for our football field . . . these are among the many contributions of Wheel Club, a boys' honorary service organization. Members serve the school and students by checking coats at our dances, by ushering, and by parking cars at school programs.

Besides sponsoring several dances this year, during the football season Wheel Club printed and distributed rosters for easy identification of the players. Members collected food and clothing for the needy at Christmas time.

Throughout the year, Key Club serves—on Orientation Day by registering students, carrying textbooks, directing new students . . . during football season by distributing programs, issuing maps to away games . . . at Christmas by collecting canned food for the needy.

Members usher at school events, present a monthly attendance cup, and award an annual scholarship.

This year, an outstanding project has been the formation of a girls' honorary service organization, Keyettes.

High Stepping Girls Heighten Color

Batons flashing in the sun, flags billowing in the breeze, B-CC's majorettes and flag twirlers marched ahead of the band at football games, lending rhythm and spirit to our cheers. An especially busy time for the squad was Blair Week, when they participated in morning pep rallies and added to the excitement of the bonfire by twirling fire-tipped batons. The majorettes and flag twirlers marched with the band in parades and at the Lion's Club state band contest. Ushering at B-CC's annual band concert and sponsoring a booth in the Carnival were also among the group's activities.

During half-time at football games, the field provided a background for the changing patterns of the Pom Pon team.

Adding entertainment and color to the games, this year's team displayed a precision acquired only through long, hard practice.

No wonder! The team drilled weekly last summer and four days a week in the fall. Representing the school, B-CC's Pom Pon team marched with the band in both the Bethesda and Silver Spring Christmas parades and in the Cherry Blossom Parade.

Pep Club And Cheerleaders Spark Spirit

PEP CLUB—On Floor: J. McDonald, S. Burke, C. Bergman. Seated: J. Deike, President; N. Little. Standing: M. Heins, M. Canby, M. Fessenden, J. Deeside.

"Come on, y'all, yell!"

With sparkling smiles and endless enthusiasm, the cheerleaders urged Bethesda fans to yell and Bethesda teams to victory after victory.

To encourage support of the Little Barons, the cheerleaders cheered at JV home games. Also, new this year were three all-school pep assemblies, which heightened school spirit and enthusiasm.

Our pep-filled cheerleaders introduced the idea of buses to carry students to away games. Increased attendance at these games proved the great success of their suggestion.

Many new cheers were introduced this year, partly as a result of a cheer clinic the cheerleaders attended at the University of Maryland.

"Go-o-o, Barons, Go!"

The voices of Pep Club offered encouraging shouts and enthusiastic yells to spark our team. At all athletic events, members could be seen in their new gold vests and blue skirts, giving vocal support to the cheerleaders and team.

In only the second year of its existence, Pep Club can boast the largest club membership and a long list of other accomplishments. In cooperation with the In-School Publicity Committee, it publicized coming athletic events and also maintained a sports bulletin board in the main hall of the Administration Building. By persuading Mr. Sadusky to explain spectator football to the girls' gym classes, by sponsoring a float in the Blair Parade, by planning ticket sale contests, and by originating new cheers and routines, the Pep Club promoted school spirit and student interest in B-CC athletics.

Speaking Our Neighbors' Language

Although French Club business is conducted in English, the minutes are read in French to create the proper atmosphere.

Gourmets at heart, members served French cheeses at one meeting, French pastries at another.

An economics student living in Washington talked to the Club on De Gaulle and the Fifth Republic. Among French Club's activities this year were readings from French plays, ballads, and fables.

"O tannenbaum, O tannenbaum..."

Climaxing weeks of planning and discussion, enthusiastic members of the Deutscher Verein held a Christmas party, complete with German songs and decorations. The club, newly formed this year, requires only one qualification for membership—an interest in Germany and its customs. This is the first year German has been taught as a subject at B-CC and Deutscher Verein provides an interesting background for students.

Helps To Break The Language Barrier

Italian, Indo-European, African, Interlingua, Esperanto. . . . These were among the many languages and dialects discussed by the Linguistics Club. Formed for students interested in languages not taught at B-CC, this year's Linguistics Club sponsored a class in Greek—the elementary, ancient variety. At their Christmas party, members ambitiously decided to speak only foreign languages—prevalent were Latin, French, and silence.

Representatives from Guatemala, Spain, Mexico, and Puerto Rico spoke to members of the Spanish Club concerning the heritage, customs, and people of their countries. Club members performed a Christmas program for Club de las Americas, an adult Spanish club in the area. The program portrayed Mexican Christmas customs.

Later in the year the president of B-CC's Spanish Club spoke to the same group about our club. Members also gave Spanish parties, visited a Spanish restaurant, and subscribed to a Spanish magazine.

Self-Expression With Creative Writing

"My story was accepted for Chips!" With well-deserved pride a student announces his achievement. Our award-winning literary magazine is published annually to give students the opportunity to see their creations in print. Students are encouraged to submit their masterpieces of prose or poetry, art or music. It is the responsibility of the Chips staff to judge the many contributions, to analyze, criticize, or revise when necessary, and then to make the final selections. When the last proof has been read and the last deadline met, staff members can relax and dream of awards while waiting for the 1959 issue of Chips.

The purpose of the Creative Writing Club is to help members improve their writing techniques. Students with creative ability are given the opportunity of having their work honestly analyzed and criticized by fellow club members. The club encourages varied types of writing, including poetry, essays, short stories, and plays. For inspiration, outstanding works of great authors are read aloud at meetings. Students interested in writing for contests or publications are offered the club's services, which include a critical analysis and helpful suggestions. The outstanding event of the year was attending a lecture and readings by Robert Frost.

Our Attempt To Grasp World Problems

The outstanding event of Debate Club's third year was the attendance at the first international debate ever held at Maryland University. Maryland's team debated a team from England's Oxford University. A speech conference held at George Washington University showed members the proper technique and procedure for debating. At club meetings, lively debates promoted better understanding of current topics and events in today's fast-moving world.

"Six o'clock Saturday morning! I'll never make it." Exclamations such as this followed the announcement that members of the International Relations Club would depart at this unheard-of hour for their annual U.N. trip. Once there, members energetically toured the building and sat in on the General Assembly. At B-CC, guest speakers, slides and discussions on the culture and customs of foreign countries provided educational entertainment at meetings.

Producing Results Quietly And Joyfully

By the sale of pom-poms at football games in the fall and the auction of unclaimed lost-and-found articles in the spring, members of Kassai, a girls' service organization, sponsor a Korean war orphan.

The Y Council flourished until plans were made for Hi-Y and the Tri-Hi-Y to be sponsored outside the school by community groups under the Y.W.C.A.

This year was the most ambitious and productive one for the Stage Crew. Stage sets for three full length plays and an operetta tested their skills.

Enjoyable Observation

Landscaping and caring for the school grounds and maintaining the greenhouse plants were the major projects of the Biology Club. A border of tulips and a tree were contributed by this year's club.

The Visual Aids Crew supplies and operates the Audio-Visual equipment. Movie projectors, screens, record players, and tape recorders are provided for our use in club or classroom.

An interest in amateur radio is the basis for membership in the Electronics Club. Besides operating its own "ham" radio station, the club offers field trips, demonstrations of equipment, and lectures.

Exercising Our Minds And Muscles

The objectives of the Girls' Athletic Association are to provide a variety of intramural sports and promote good sportsmanship. At the end of each sport, an honor team of the most valuable players participates in sportsdays with other Montgomery County schools. G.A.A. Council, the Association's governing body, consists of the executive officers and sports managers.

"Is there a doctor in the house?"

"Nurse, you're needed in the operating room immediately!" So run the dreams of aspiring members of the Future Doctors and Nurses Club. Films and lectures aid their understanding of the responsibility and hard work that are a part of their chosen profession. For practical experience, members assist the school nurse.

Planning A More Productive Career

Our Future Teachers of America Club provides excellent opportunities for students interested in the teaching profession. Its program includes a teacher-aid program, by which members perform many of the teacher's routine duties. Also, F.T.A. visits schools in the area to observe teaching methods at various grade levels.

"The way to a man's heart . . ." and any student will attest to the fact that the Future Homemakers hold top honors in the bake sale department. Funds from these and other projects are used to send CARE packages to an overseas family or to provide materials for the stuffed animals which members make for crippled children.

Broadening Our Scientific Knowledge

One of the most appreciated projects undertaken by Math Club is a tutoring service for the "unmathematical." Each year the club donates math books to our library. At meetings, speakers describe vocational opportunities in the field of mathematics and discuss the growing importance of these careers.

When the Science-Fiction Club was organized and a library acquired, members took pride in not only reading but in writing their own stories. To encourage others to write, the club sponsored a short story contest with a seven dollar cash prize.

The goal of B-CC's Science Club was to inspire an increased interest in science. Speakers from a variety of scientific fields presented new ideas to members. Field trips to places of scientific interest broadened their knowledge and stimulated experiment and research outside the classroom. Membership in this club encouraged many to investigate scientific careers.

SCIENCE CLUB—Seated: S. Loomis; S. Robinson, Secretary-Treasurer; B. Roberts, President; J. Carter, Vice-president. Standing: D. Chen, L. Johnston, R. Hutchinson, S. Derry, A. Kousen, J. Haldeman.

"Checkmate!" The triumphant cry of a Chess Club member breaks the silence after a challenging game. Club members exchange especially effective plays, introduce obsolete rules on occasion and argue over techniques. Meetings provide practice, competition, and an opportunity to discuss a mutual interest.

"Anybody know anything about that new German camera?" Photography Club provides a swapshop for ideas, techniques, knowledge, and sometimes even cameras. Through the years of its existence, Photography Club has acquired a large accumulation of darkroom equipment which is made available to all members.

"Three no-trump! Are you sure that's a legal bid?" After a few practice hands, Bridge Club members began to realize that there was more to the game than point-count and bidding and that experience is the best teacher. Being "dummy" became an opportunity to observe rather than to gossip.

Accuracy Scores Hit Gun Or Foot

The Soccer Club was formed this year with the hope of making soccer a varsity sport next year. Starting with five soccer balls, a coach who is now a history teacher, but was once a semi-pro, and a group of interested boys, the club finished the season with four wins and three close losses.

"Improvement through practice" is the encouraging theory held by members of the Rifle Club. Through instruction on the history and safe-handling of the rifle, their general knowledge grows. By competing in inter-school matches, club members increase their skill and experience.

Students Give Service

At the school bank, students pay for lab fees, budget cards, game tickets, and school pictures. The student assistants are also kept busy handling club and class accounts and taking care of the lost and found articles.

Careful accounting practices provide a duplicate receipt for every transaction and a monthly accounting to clubs, classes, and all other account holders. The amount of money handled each day requires two trips to the bank.

School supplies, study and college guides, school pins and pennants—all these are available at our school store. For commercial students, practical experience in selling is provided by the store.

"Did we forget the flags again?" Assembly Committee plans and conducts our school assemblies, meeting afterwards to evaluate their program. Members' duties range from carrying flags and pushing back bleachers to contacting Maryland Representative DeWitt Hyde or a concert pianist for a program.

Our Club Activities

Why does anybody join a club? What do the members do? The answer isn't always easily found but the discussion that has raged over making a minor change in the Limitation of Activities Program proves that clubs have real appeal. Biggest splurge of activity comes in the spring when the Arts Club initiates the Arts Fair. If you're lucky, you may buy a painting by a future Picasso, a ceramic by a future Russell Wright, or a charcoal sketch of yourself to admire in the future.

S.G.A. begins early in the year with the Welcome Dance and climaxes its activities with the Extravaganza and the Carnival, money making productions.

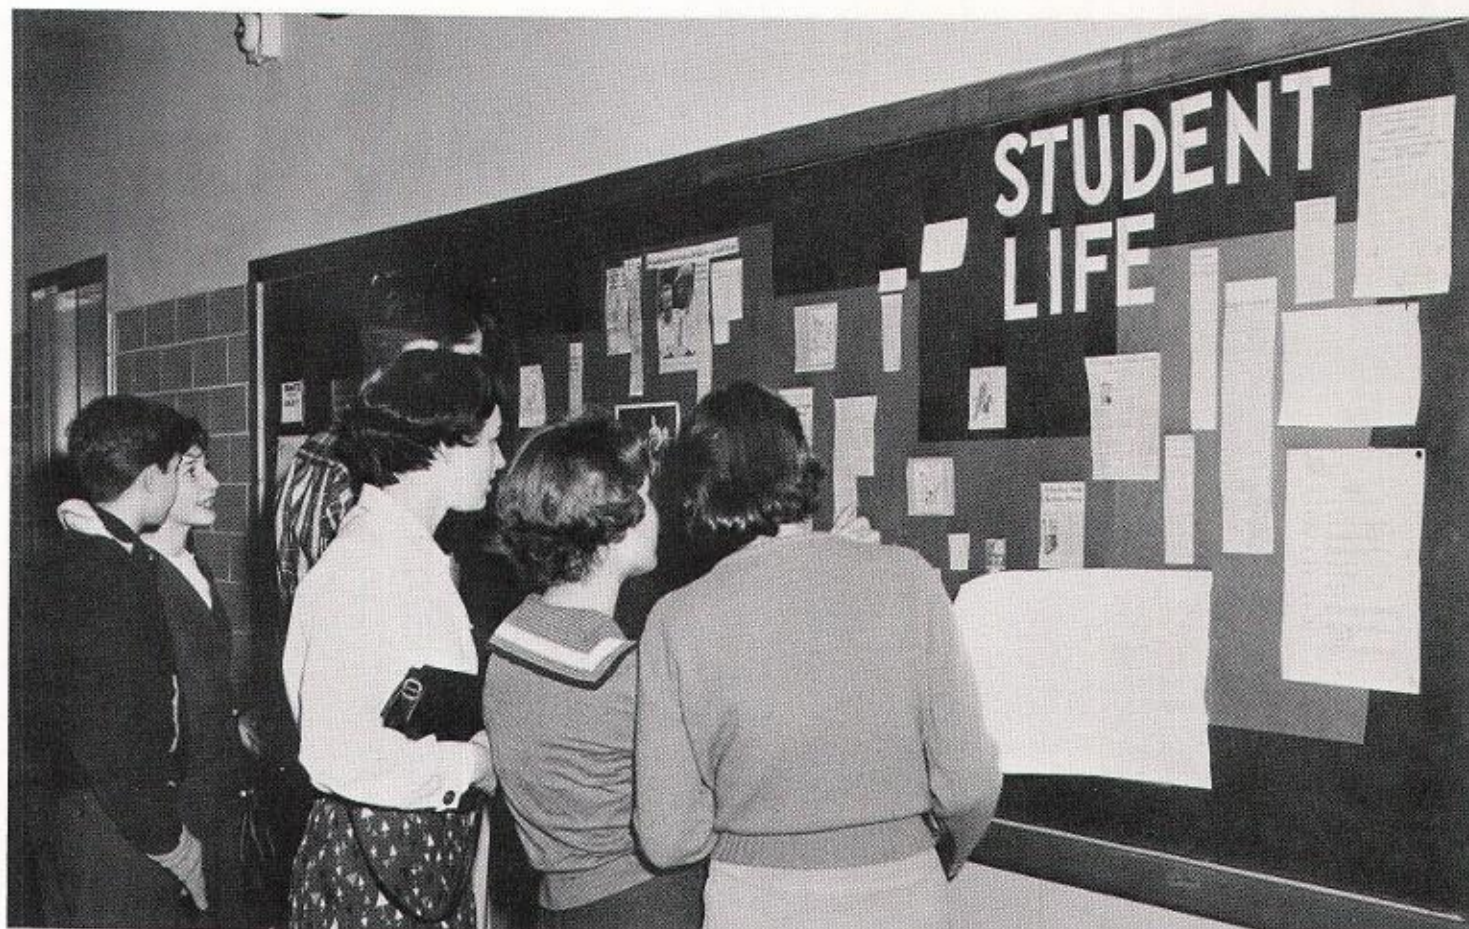

P.T.A. tea honoring teachers new to the school featured student hostesses who sampled their mothers' goodies.

Pat Jones and members of the Out-of-School Publicity Committee planned their bulletin board carefully before everybody pitched in to complete the display.

Everybody read the bulletin board! Interest ran high and Pep Club members who had suggested it basked in reflected glory.

Cover Everything

New this year was the bulletin board in the main hall featuring student life. Newspaper clippings and cartoons from the three dailies and three weeklies provided excellent coverage of our ups and downs.

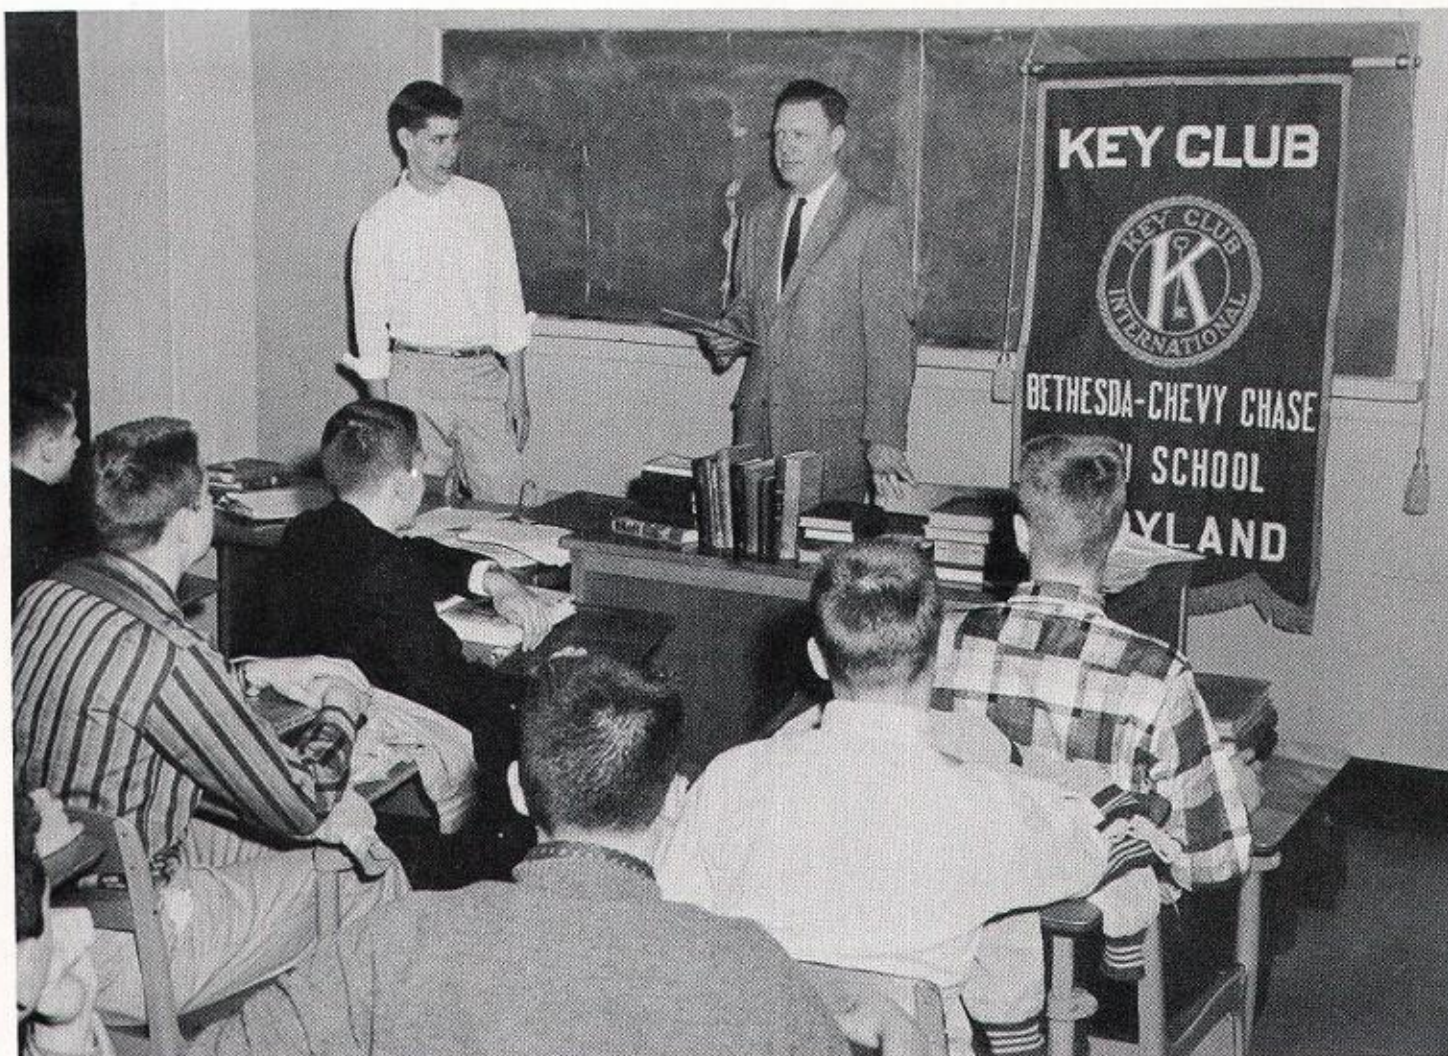

Senior, junior, and sophomore classes added to the outside-the-classroom activities by sponsoring dances and in February, the Tri-Tilt which determined which class had the basketball championship team.

First class activity, however, was the Pigskin Prom sponsored by the seniors. This annual dance honors the football team and, in the decorations, features individual players portrayed by student artists.

Mr. Dalla Santa enjoys the Pigskin Prom and compliments members of the senior class who planned it.

Our dances were a success whether we honored a team or merely planned to add to the bank balance.

Roger Parkinson turns the Key Club meeting over to Mr. Plitt, member of Kiwanis, sponsoring club.

Extra-Curricular Activities In A.M., P.M.

Extravaganza, money-making variety show of SGA, boasts its own orchestra and practice begins early. Sign on pillar publicizes campaign to keep cafeteria tables clear.

Charlotte Presgrave displays an Irish linen blouse to a potential customer in the Sportswoman. Charlotte receives training under the D. E. Program.

Joe Alpher helps pack the canned goods collected in the Thanksgiving Food Drive.

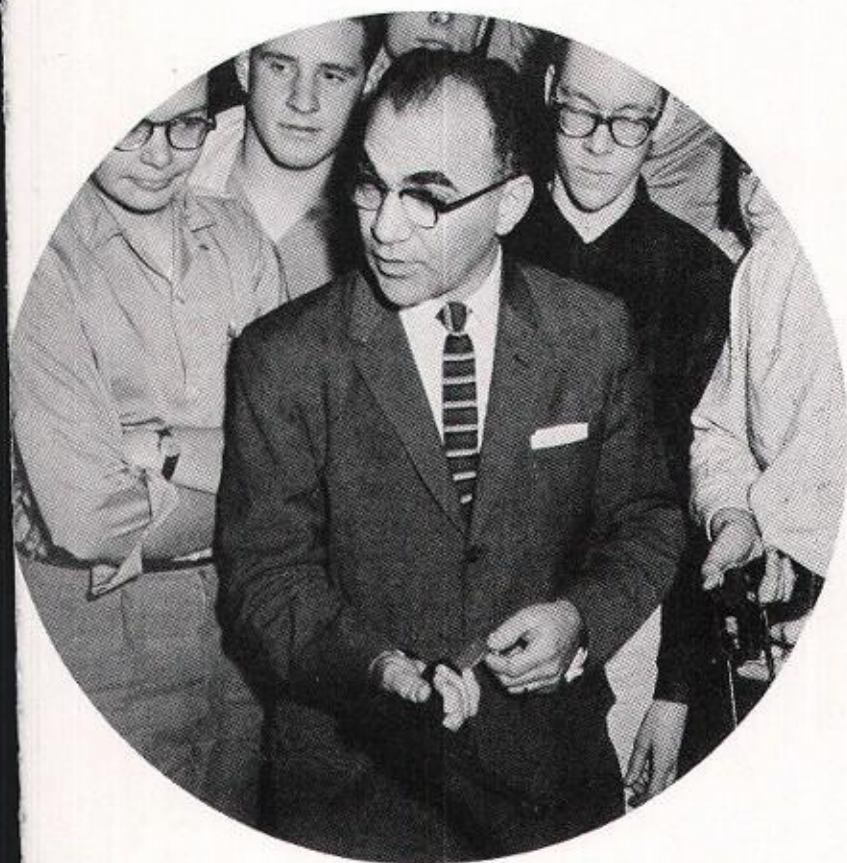

Mr. Nickey teaches the most difficult part of driving. We must learn; we have to have the car. There are no head-in parking places near B-CC!

"Look at the time!" The times that you can treat tardiness as a joke don't exist, unless it's for a picture!

Do Keep Us Active

We're so active that we voluntarily limit our activities. The S.G.A. decides whether participation is major or minor and even determines the seasonal. We gather points each year in hopes of gaining a monogram for all-school participation.

Some clubs and committees meet at 8 a.m.; most, however, meet at 3:30. Having the family car that day, or better still your own, creates a problem. There are more would-be riders than there are places to sit! Termination of activities depends upon the time of year, for we must be out of the building in time to arrive home before dark.

Mr. Guidara instructs the Rifle Club in the proper handling of weapons as well as how to hit the target.

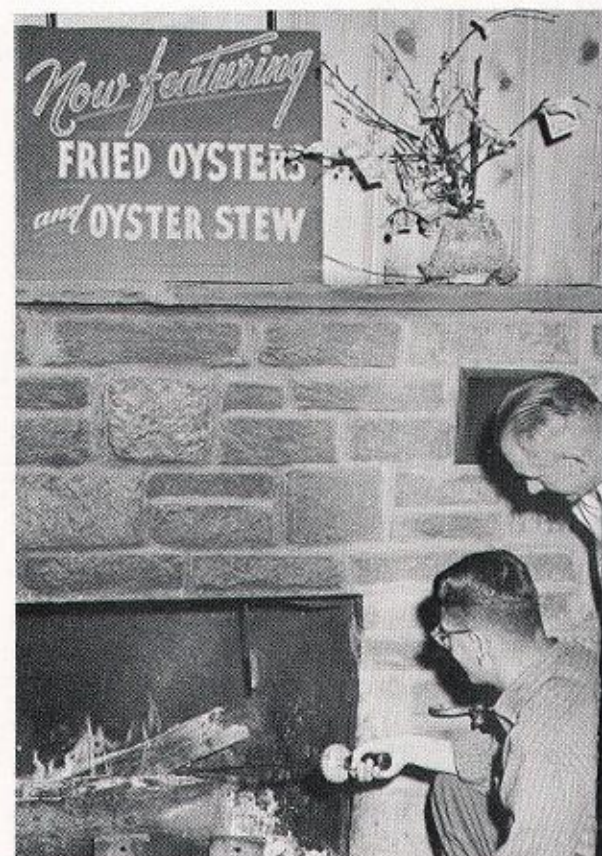

One smart girl picks her pattern early to cash in on as many birthdays and Christmases as possible.

We stuffed envelopes for TB, spreading out in the cafeteria. We liked working.

Times were when a money tree was a decoration. Now it's simply a necessity.

Advertising

So you think we've grown? Look at Bethesda! There's more than our school and the Hot Shoppe now. Bethesda has everything from drugstores that sell chocolate-covered ants to luxury motels with swimming pools. And there's nothing that can't be found in the endless variety of stores. Come see; bring your compass.

The split-level home has come into its own, and pine-paneled dens make us feel so important. We are proud of a well-ordered rec room when we entertain our potluck.

Dear Margaret,
Have lots of fun
this summer (with Ray)!
I hope that we get in some of the same classes next year,
'cause it sure has been loads of fun this year. Don't study this summer but have loads of fun consequently and be good.
Lots of luck,
Sylvia

Dear Margaret, June 8, 1957

It's been great knowing you this year and I hope we'll always be "acquaintances." Never forget the fun(?) we've had (as if you could!). Remember your grand and glorious new year's Party? I don't see how you or your mother could ever forget it! (special to your mother). Has she recuperated yet? Good luck on getting out of going to Georgia. I hope you make it. Remember "She will come that is always out at our house." (oh brother!). I hope (I better) see you this summer. And Ray too. Say hello to the old boy for me. Maybe we can double sometime.

Love, Marsha

P.S. Tell Ray I still remember Bat.
